EVERYMAN'S PSYCHOLOGY

V. A. BORE INTERRUPTS ME

(BY FATHER G. BYRNE S.J.)

"Come in!" I had to plead guilty to a decided note of irritation in my voice. I had counted on just two hours for a special bit of work when a rather insistent knock at my door threatened an unwelcome intruder. It is many years since he came and went. His coming can serve at least one useful purpose; it can serve as an illustration of the way in which the Rational Psychologist builds up his science by the art of introspection. For the man who has never troubled to probe the depths of consciousness there seems to be little to relate except a very commonplace event—an unwelcome visitor admitted with the hope that his departure may be speedy. For the psychologist, however, working on the revelations of consciousness, this commonplace event outlines practically the whole programme of his scientific study. The commonplace event was responsible for at least eight different acts.

In the first place the knock at the door caused in me a sensation. Here the philosopher distinguishes two things: what he calls the act and the content of the act. If I look at a rose, my seeing is the act, the rose is the content of my seeing. In the case under consideration hearing is the act, the knock at the door is the content of my act of hearing. What I hear is a sound, which the physicist tells me is only a series of vibrations reaching the drum of my ear. The psychologist maps out the course of the vibrations through the nerves, at the rate of so many feet per second, until they reach my brain and modify it. He has a lot to say about the nature of the brain, but he can carry me no further. At this point the psychologist invites me into his study, offering to take up the threads where physicist and physiologist have dropped them.

An Act of Knowing.

He calls my attention to the fact that what I hear is not vibrations but what we call sound, so mysterious a thing that it would be impossible to define or explain it to a deaf person who never enjoyed the sensation of hearing. The sensation is an act of knowing which makes me aware of objects distinct from myself. When my senses have been acted on by some object there is formed within me a representation of the object, which brings me to the second act, called perception. This is the first and simplest act of knowing. It is the act by which I become aware of the representation within me of objects or happenings outside me. I am capable of perceiving several sensations at the same moment and of comparing their effect on me. Whilst admiring the beauty of a garden, I may enjoy the perfume of a flower and the song of the birds in the trees.

The Nature of Emotions.

The knocking at the door, once perceived, as I did not want interruptions immediately caused irritation, a feeling of anger. This is the third act, called by some an emotion, by others a passion. On examining the nature of emotions I find that they are regularly accompanied by bodily changes easily perceptible, as tension of the muscles, rapid throbbing of the heart, irregular breathing. It is possible to measure them: the Experimental Psychologist is much concerned with them. Sometimes before, sometimes after the emotion the enquiry may arise "who is knocking at the door?" By a fourth act, the act of memory, I set about recalling different types of knocks, trying to find out who knocks in that way, and I am led to a further act, an act of judgement: "Oh, it is so and so!" I might be satisfied with that conclusion or I might allow my imagination to weave pictures about the character of the individual and about the object of his visit. No doubt the imagining is exercised by the judgment, but it differs from a mere assertion or denial, so differs that the psychologist deems it worthy of being studied apart.

Two Branches.

These acts have all taken place very quickly, so quickly that I have not adverted to their number and difference, until the psychologist makes me introspect. They all lead up to one of my final acts, that of will, in which I decide whether I shall admit the importunate knocker or not. I feel that I am quite free in my choice. I choose and say "Come in." I have now used language, my eighth act. What a vast field of study language presents to experts.

With this illustration before us it is easy to see how Psychology naturally divides into two branches, that of Rational Psychology, examining especially questions like the following: Where do mental experiences come from? What is the mind? Is the mind spiritual, immortal, free? And of Experimental Psychology much more occupied with a detailed study of mental events, as for instance how we see colours, how our emotions arise, how we store up and how we lose the contents of memory. The first is much more concerned with the ultimate foundations of our varied experiences, the second with determining, observing and describing all the primary facts of mental and sense reactions. Both are needed. If they work in harmony they should succeed in building an imposing structure. Rational Psychology is the elder; it has a venerable history behind it. Experimental Psychology has comparatively no history. As a separate branch its history is in the making.

BRITISH PROPOSAL TO BE DISCUSSED

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rome, Feb. 14.

THE Political Commission of the Disarmament Conference decided at Geneva to-day to take as the basis of discussion for all questions of security, the British programme of work introduced by Captain Eden.

It was also decided that the first item on the agenda should be the draft declaration submitted by the United Kingdom delegation for signature by European Governments, the terms of which are: "Determined to fulfil not only the letter but also the spirit of the obligations which they accepted under the Pact of Paris signed on August 27 1928, the Signatories hereby solemnly undertake that they will not in any case resort to force for the purpose of resolving any present or future differences between them."

CANTON'S GREAT DAY

Four Notable Events

PEARL RIVER BRIDGE OPENED

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, Feb. 15.

To-day was one of the most eventful and happy in the long history of this ancient city. The place was in a festive mood, for four big events, the opening of the Municipal Fair, the opening of the Pearl River Bridge, the opening of the first electric power sub-station at Honam, and, last but not least, the anniversary celebration of the Municipal Council inaugurated in 1921.

The exhibition was a comprehensive one, mainly setting out South China produce and manufactures, but also including foreign sections. The opening anniversary of the Municipal Council was celebrated at 9 a.m. All municipal departments suspended work, and members will gather for a ceremony of an extremely impressive and notable nature.

At 10 o'clock, the Canton Municipal Fair was formally opened at the Yue Shou Hill. The exhibition, consisting of eight sections, including displays of industrial, commercial and other objects, and a number of interesting contests and entertainments.

At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the Pearl River Bridge across the Pearl River, which has been completed after years of work, was formally opened for traffic. After the bridge had been declared open, a number of people of advanced years who were specially invited to Canton led the first procession across the bridge.

Honam Power Station.

A 3 p.m. the sub-power station constructed at Honam by the Government was opened. There is a new electric power plant of 2,000 kilowatts, and a plant of 6,000 kilowatts will be installed at the main station on the Bund. With these installations, the city should have no more trouble with its electricity supply.

The Bridge.

The Canton bridge over the Pearl River to Honam Island is 600 feet long and 40 feet wide, with a 40 foot roadway and two pathways of 10 feet.

The contract for material was given to Andersen, Meyer & Co., the design being on the Scherzer Rolling Lift Bridge principle. This called for the erection of a set of piers set in the river so as to divide the bridge into three spans, two approach spans each 220 feet long and one centre or movable span 160 feet long.

The centre span is composed of two equal and movable pieces, similar to two swinging doors laid on a horizontal plane. Instead of hinges, however, each movable piece turns around a large steel shaft at the ends of which are pinion gears resting on gear racks which in turn are supported by the bridge foundation.

This centre span consists of two movable leaves each 80 feet long and weighing 1,227 pounds. To facilitate the opening and closing of the bascules, they have been counter-balanced with masses of solid concrete weighing 670,000 pounds. In this way, the electric motors for operating the bascules have only to reckon with wind resistance and inertia friction. The maximum height of the movable spans when fully opened will be approximately 115 feet above street level or approximately equal to the height of a ten story building. Since Canton has very few structures that high the bridge will be one of the highest structures in the city when the spans are fully opened.

The power for the operation of the movable spans is taken from the lines of the Kwangtung Electric Co. at 1,300 volts and stepped down by means of transformers to 220 volts for the operation of the bascules, and 110 volts for lighting purposes. Operations of the movable spans are obtained by means of two 40 horse power electric motors geared to each movable span. The approach between piers will be 115 feet wide with a stream depth of about 35 feet at mean high water level. If the Pearl River were dredged so that large ocean liners can come up to Canton, they can easily pass the Pearl River Bridge.

Broadcasting to the British Empire

Successful Service After Two Years Of Experimental Transmissions

The Rt. Hon. J. H. Whitley, late Speaker of the House of Commons and Chairman of the British Broadcasting Corporation, addressing a Meeting of the Royal Empire Society at the Hotel Victoria last evening, over which Dr. Montague Rendall, a former Governor of the B.B.C. presided, said:—

"It will not be without interest to the events that have led up to the opening of the Empire Service on December 10th, and the gracious message spoken by His Majesty the King on Christmas Day.

Six or more years ago, when home broadcasting was yet in its infancy the idea of an Empire Service began to be canvassed. Even then there was the vision of a scheme which might lead to an exchange of programmes between the Home and the Dominions and Colonies. It was left, however, that it would be unwise to attempt any general service until experiment had given reasonable assurance that the inherent difficulties could be overcome. So it came about that in 1927, with the willing co-operation of the Marconi Co. and their staff, a short wave transmitter, called G5SW, was set up at Chelmsford.

Experimental Transmissions.

For two years experimental transmissions were made; and the results attained seemed to warrant the preparation of a larger and more permanent scheme.

This scheme was submitted to the Colonial Office in 1929, and in 1930 it was brought before the Colonial Conference and the Imperial Conference.

All those concerned expressed keen interest in the plan: commendatory resolutions were passed; but nothing happened; financial considerations were a stumbling block. In 1931 the economic crisis made it clear that nothing would be done unless the B.B.C. took the whole responsibility. Evidence accumulated since 1927 showed that there was a very real demand for an Empire Service; and, in fact, British Broadcasting was in danger of being left behind. Other countries were already operating powerful short wave stations receivable in most parts of the world.

Daventry was chosen for the site of the Europe Transmitter.

Station: and in January 1932 the contracts for building and machinery were placed. Ten months later test transmissions began; and on the 10th of December it was possible to initiate the regular service, giving two hours of home programmes to listeners in all parts of the Empire in their own evening hours. Six days later there followed the Christmas Day programme, when home and overseas listeners together heard the message of His Majesty the King to his people.

Colonies May Contribute to Cost.

"We are convinced that we have the great body of licence-holders behind us in our policy; perhaps odd grumbler could not produce a licence. We believe that it will not be long before the Dominions and Colonies of their own motion will contribute to the cost. Already, before a month has elapsed, there are signs of a move in that direction.

Now, as to the time and the method of the Service. We want to give to listeners throughout the Empire at least a two hour's programme every day at their most convenient listening time. This is not easy when you remember that we have to allow for a time difference of twenty hours, and that in a single Dominion, such as Canada, there is a time difference of 4½ hours between East and West. At best those who live in the outer edges of one of our dominions cannot have quite as convenient time as those who are in the middle of it. For instance, to meet the exact convenience of the Malay States might impose a greater inconvenience on all the listeners in India.

Divided into Five Zones.

We have divided the Empire into five zones, each of which has a directional (or beam) transmission sent out from Daventry at a time corresponding with evening hours in the country of countries to which it is directed. You may like to have a rapid sketch of the plan as it has been arranged for the first few months.

3.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. The Australian Zone, which covers Australia, New Zealand, British North Borneo and the Pacific Islands, etc. 2.30 p.m. to 4.30 p.m. The Indian Zone, which covers India, Burma, Malay States, Straits Settlements and Ceylon.

6.00 p.m. to 8.00 p.m. The African Zone, which covers South Africa, East Africa, Aden, the Seychelles and certain islands in the Indian Ocean and includes also Malta, Cyprus and Palestine.

8.30 p.m. to 10.30 p.m. The West African Zone, which covers West Africa, Ascension Island, St. Helena and the Falkland Islands.

1.00 a.m. to 3.00 a.m. The Canadian Zone, which covers Canada, British Guiana, British Honduras, the West Indies and Newfoundland.

Programmes.

Now a few words about programmes. In the first few months these are, of necessity, for the most part experimental. We have to learn two things: first, what kind of material will carry best over these long distances and give satisfactory reception at the other end; second, what kind of items are most acceptable to listeners.

You will have understood that it is our desire to build our programme policy on what we learn from listeners.

In one matter we have already been able to meet their wishes: we have put a full chime of Big Ben into every transmission. In addition to sending out the best bits of our home programmes, we hope it may be possible to arrange a series of talks on Empire Industries. The first of these, on the Pottery Industry, is fixed up for March next. If it is acceptable, it may turn out to be the beginning of a valuable feature in our arrangements.

Technical.

The miracle of the wireless waves is one of the mysteries of our earthly habitation for which we ought to offer daily thanks to the great Architect of the Universe. No doubt they have been there from the beginning of time, waiting for the slowly developing intelligence of men to apprehend them, and harness them to useful service.

A simple illustration may bring home the fact which lies at the basis of their usefulness. When I lived in the Speaker's House just under Big Ben, we used to hear the stroke of the hour by the wireless before it reached us from the Clock Tower just above our heads. The sound had travelled to Oxford Street, and back again through the ether, in appreciably less time than it took to come a few yards through the atmosphere. The atmosphere has its blessing in great design, but there is something which pervades it and goes far beyond it, which, for want of a better term, we call the ether.

The medium waves which are used for our Regional Transmissions, and the long wave which serves Daventry are by this time familiar to most of us. But the short waves which are necessary for an Empire Service have peculiar properties not so easy to manage. They depend for their usefulness on the fact that they are reflected and refracted from a layer of ionised gas which exists at a distance of about 100 miles from the surface of the earth. A glance at these difficulties is enough to make us congratulate the engineers on the wonderful measure of success which they have attained in what is still an inexact science. They do not claim to understand fully the "why and the wherefore" of these mysteries; but they are building up, from facts observed all over the world, a knowledge which may enable them before long to give in short wave long distance broadcasting a perfect and reliable of transmission and reception comparable to what has been achieved at home during the last ten years. To help them in their task we need the co-operation of careful and regular observers in every clime.

Speculation is growing concerning the possibility of Ignace Paderewski returning to power as President of Poland in the election next June, as a result of the alleged activities of Herr Adolf Hitler, the German Chancellor. It is believed that if the strained relations between Poland and Germany become more critical, the pianist will stand an excellent chance of assuming the reins of the Polish Government.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

Here are lists of long-wave and short-wave stations which should be picked up by anyone in Hong Kong who has a moderately good set suitable for receiving such signals. Success in picking up these stations also depends very largely upon favourable atmospheric conditions. Readers are invited to add to this list should they succeed in picking up any station not included in either of these lists.

Weak Teeth

are usually due to a lack of Calcium (lime) in the body

For Women

Kalzana is of the greatest value in regulating the bodily functions. Any lack of calcium results in pain and prostration, but these are quickly relieved as soon as the shortage is made good. By taking Kalzana, the scientifically approved calcium treatment, you can avoid pain and discomfort. By restoring the balance of calcium in a natural way, Kalzana must do you good, and cannot possibly be harmful.

"Whenever there is evidence of disfunction in the body, lack of Calcium is probably a contributing factor," writes Dr. H.F. B.W., London.

Remember that your teeth are living parts of your body. The food they require is Kalzana, the calcium food. If your teeth get too little calcium, they become weak and liable to decay.

Such teeth are a constant cause of pain and trouble and never look healthy.

Start taking Kalzana and notice how quickly your teeth become strong and white. By taking Kalzana, pain and trouble are prevented, decay is arrested and your teeth permanently strengthened.

Make your teeth strong and white with KALZANA

Weak and difficult Children are often so because of a lack of calcium in the body. Rapid growth demands a great deal of calcium to form strong bones and healthy tissues. When kept short of calcium, children become nervous and moody, and difficult to manage.

Children

"A listless difficult child" is a child whose constitution is out of order," writes a famous physician.

After having examined a great many difficult children, he writes: "I could prove that the blood of many so-called 'difficult' children was poor in Calcium."

Children take

Kalzana Tablets like sweets, a sure sign that their system is in urgent need of it.

In Diarrhoea—

Kalzana hastens the healing of the ulcerated and inflamed areas and soothes the nerves. With Kalzana the diarrhoea will very quickly stop.

"By the use of 6 Kalzana tablets daily the Diarrhoea (in two severe cases) was stopped in an amazingly short time," writes Dr. ZUNTZ, the world-famous Physician.

Lack of Calcium in the body causes many different complaints. Regain your health by taking

The Calcium Food

Made by the manufacturers of Sanatogen & Formamin

Characteristic signs of lack of calcium in the body are:

- ✓ Eczema
- ✓ Night sweats
- ✓ Inflammation of the Skin, caused through unhealthy blood.
- ✓ Nettlerash
- ✓ Colds of long duration
- ✓ Bleeding of the Nose and other forms of excessive bleeding.
- ✓ Loss of Hair
- ✓ Tooth decay in grown-ups and children.

Before Baby comes

The expectant mother should be careful to remember that she must supply all the calcium needed to form her baby's bones and tissues. Kalzana gives all the extra calcium needed, and corrects any shortage in the mother's diet. It protects the mother against loss of hair, decay of the teeth, vomiting, general weakness and debility, whilst it also ensures her baby against any predisposition to rickets.

Preserve your own health and safeguard your baby's by taking Kalzana in good time.

(Use it during the last six months of your pregnancy).

Note

Only in the scientific form of Kalzana—a combination of calcium-lactate and sodium-lactate—are you sure that the calcium will be absorbed and retained by the body. Ordinary calcium administrations are often useless—it must be Kalzana.

The opinion of well-known medical papers about KALZANA:

"The Pharmaceutical Journal of New Zealand," Jan. 1930. "Kalzana has been used with very good results in cases of calcium deficiency, such as bone diseases, dental caries, rickets, weakness in growing children, during pregnancy and lactation—in fact, in all cases where a diet with an excessive calcium content is necessary." "Rickets too are a typical sign of a lack of calcium: Kalzana will set all that right, and very soon your child will be happy and healthy again."

"The British Journal of Tuberculosis," April, 1929. "We have employed Kalzana with much advantage in the management of delicate children. It seems to be of considerable service in cases of rickets and other morbid conditions of bone, and also as a prophylactic of dental caries." "For pregnant women Kalzana is often beneficial."

THE FASHION OF THE DISH—No. IV

A l'Andalouse

A SPANISH fashion such as this surely demands pimientos, and these we find at once in the garnish for large joints and chicken. This consists of grilled halves of pimientos stuffed with rice à la grecque (that is, a pilaff cooked with pieces of sausage, with the addition of peas and dice of pimiento) of slices of aubergines tossed in olive oil and garnished with parsley-sprinkled pieces of roughly chopped tomato also cooked in oil.

The cooking in oil is, of course, a definite feature of this fashion. Sauces Andalouse is a cold one, and consists simply of a mayonnaise sauce flavoured with tomato puree and with dice of pimientos added to it.

A clear soup of this name is a consommé flavoured with tomato, and garnished with dice of royale and tomato, rice and very thin strips of ham.

APPLIED TO EGGS

The thick soup is a reloché, flavoured with onion and tomato, garnished with rice, little pieces of tomato and thin strips of pimiento, and finished with cream.

Eggs can be served à l'Andalouse, fried, cold, or in the form of an omelette. The first are fried in oil like a fritter, and alternated on the dish with slices of fried aubergines, with a tomato sauce served separately.

Cold, they are poached and arranged with tomato jelly and masked with a chaudière sauce flavoured with onion and tomato. As an omelette, the stuffing of roughly chopped tomatoes and pimientos, and a garnish of thin rounds of fried onion.

For the fish course, sole and turbot can both be dressed in this way.

For the sole, the fillets should be stuffed with a fish forcement and thin strips of pimientos, then rolled up and poached in the oven. They should then be placed in tomato-halves cooked in oil, with some pilaff rice in their bottoms, the whole resting on thin slices of aubergines fried in oil. A brown butter may be poured over.

Noisettes and tournedos are served à l'Andalouse if they are sautéed, and then garnished with stuffed pimientos, chipolata sausages, and slices of aubergines sautéed and filled with a mixture of chopped tomato and minced ham.

Large joints are served with the garnish already described. A half-glaze sauce flavoured with tomato should accompany them.

An Andalousian salad is composed of quarters of tomatoes, salade strips of pimiento, plain cooked rice, chopped onions and parsley, and a suspicion of garlic.

Aubergines are the only vegetable cooked à l'Andalouse. They are scooped out, stuffed with roughly chopped tomatoes, pimiento dice, and pieces of ham all cooked in butter, and themselves then cooked in the oven. A half-glaze sauce with tomato should also be served with these.

As for sweets, apricots, pineapples, peaches, apples or pears can all be treated à l'Andalouse, if they are poached, arranged on a bed of rice flavoured with vanilla, and covered with rose-coloured Italian meringue. As this is served hot, a hot syrup of the appropriate fruit should be handed, too.

And Italy, a Bombe Andalousie is made of vanilla ice clothed with apricot, and a Coupe Andalousie contains quarters of oranges which have previously been soaked in Maraschino, covered with a lemon-ice.

CLEVER GIRLS OF TO-DAY

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE OFFER THEM?

MOST of you who are moderately well off and ambitious for your children like to send your sons to a university. It definitely gives them an advantage, puts them in a certain sphere within reach of certain opportunities.

But—what about your daughter? Most mothers are not so sure about this. Your daughter is intelligent and alert, and it is not so essential, perhaps, that she should begin to earn her living at once, in just any old way that comes along.

You want her to have her chance, too, as well as her brother. But is his way to a career the way also for her?

The answer is usually "No." The slogan "Equality of the sexes" is being grossly misapplied in the educational sphere to-day. Equality, yes; but that does not necessarily mean similarity.

A Different Proposition.

The whole plan of a woman's life is, on the whole, different from a man's; and her education should vary accordingly.

Of course, if your daughter wishes to become a teacher, a barrister, or a doctor, there is no problem. A university is a necessary and pleasant preliminary. But suppose she is simply rather a clever girl with a desire to do something interesting and "different"; something that she can happily follow all her life.

Should she not marry? And, perhaps, if she does, what will a university give her?

It will give her three years of a pleasant life among congenial people; it will send her out from her home to stand on her own feet, to select her own friends, her own interests, to hear a multitude of different opinions on everything under the sun, and to make up her own mind about things, writes an Evening News correspondent.

Not Much Weaker.

What it will "not" do is to turn her out a genius, nor will it bring her in contact with more genius than any other walk of life.

Genius, as a whole, does not frequent universities; it is too busy, and it does not need them.

At the end, then, of her three years your daughter is turned out into the world at the age of about 21.

And now the truth is, she is no more able to earn her living than if she had never seen the inside of a university.

Does she wish to be a secretary?

She must have training.

A librarian? She must take her diploma course. A journalist?

She is no nearer than before.

Degrees are common things nowadays, and, especially in the case of women, not taken very seriously.

This is an age of specially efficiency. A degree succeeded by a definite training is good; training without a degree is good; a degree without training is not very good.

The girl who has spent three years at a university has to compete with the girl who took her specialised course of training immediately after leaving school, and now has had a year or two of experience.

The Demand of To-day.

And an employer values efficiency and a thorough knowledge of her job in a woman; and is not very much interested in her purely intellectual capabilities.

Where he would demand a degree in a man, he asks only technical training in a woman.

And he is doubtful of engaging any girl past her teens who has not had experience, whereas he might take on a man in the same position up to the age of 25.

Suppose, however, you do not mind this extra year of training, and suppose your daughter obtains a post after it.

She is by now at least 22. Probably in two or three years she Savoury Rice.

Stewed Pears with Chocolate Sauce

Fish Custard.

Ingredients.—About 1lb. cod or hake or fillets of fish, one pint milk, one egg, pepper and salt, one onion, one carrot, a small piece of celery.

Instructions.—Peel and slice the onion and carrot, cook these in the milk for about ten minutes, then add the fish and cook till not quite done.

Remove the fish, take away all skin and bone, and flake finely.

Strain the milk liquid in which it was cooked, and make this into a custard with the egg. Season well.

Put the fish in a buttered dish, pour in the custard and bake in a tin half filled with water for about three-quarters of an hour.

The flavours of this dish can be varied in all sorts of ways, with mushrooms tomato puree, anchovies, etc.

marries. And if she is not a genius (in which case this article does not apply) she will probably find that, after all, husband and home occupy her attention pretty thoroughly, and a career is rather slow and arduous in the making.

A career does not "turn up" in these days, but has to be planned and studied for, and the sooner this is done the easier it is, and the better the results.

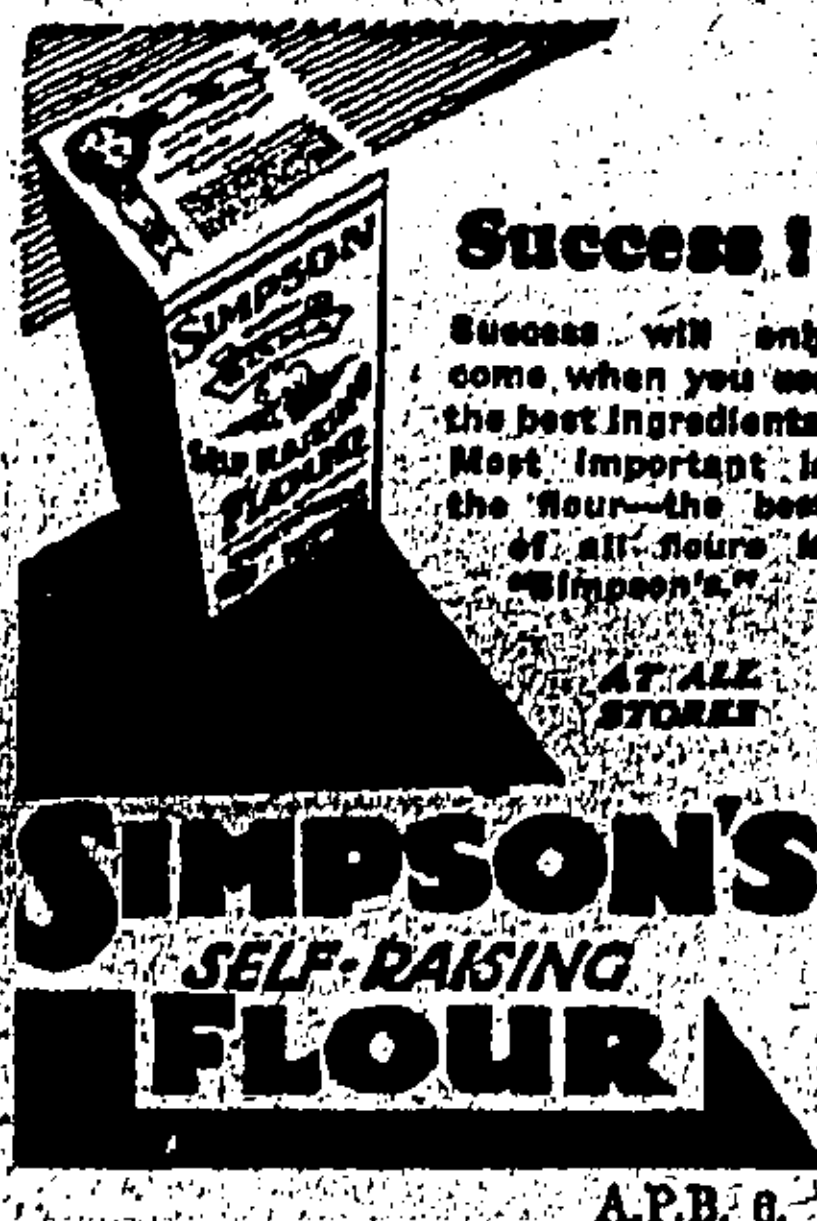

A university is great fun, but an expensive luxury for a woman; and if you want a career for your daughter, then a course of training after her High School is the best thing for her.

The Secret of Successful Baking!

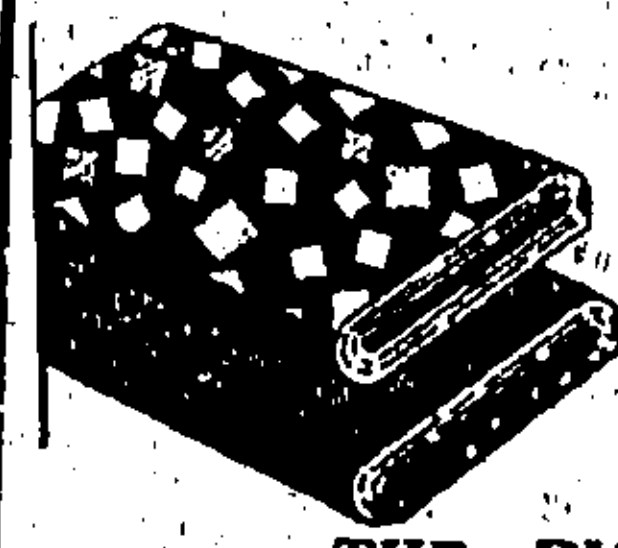

- 1 First of all the very finest quality self-raising flour is necessary.
- 2 Then see that you use a machine-mixed flour with every part having its correct proportion of ingredients.
- 3 The first time you use such a flour, you will see the wide difference in results, between it and home-mixed flour consisting of ordinary flour and baking powder.
- 4 Only in such a perfected product as Simpson's Self Raising Flour are the leavening agents correctly mixed.
- 5 The result is—cakes, pastry, pies, puddings, etc. of rich even texture: no bitter, soggy lumps.
- 6 The right flour, ready mixed in the right way—that's the secret of successful baking.

Simpson's Self-Raising Flour is made from the finest Australian wheat, carefully washed and milled, with the leavening materials added and mixed by electrical machinery. With ordinary care in baking, there are no risks of failure. Efficient, simple, time-saving and economical.

Write to Messrs. Gilman & Co., Ltd. for Free Illustrated Booklet "Simpson's Baking Secrets": contains dozens of useful and economical recipes for making good cakes, pastries, pies, puddings, and preserves.

"SWEEPSTAKES"

TURF PICTURE BOOKED FOR CENTRAL

For a young man of twenty-three Eddie Quillan, star of the RKO Pathe picture, "Sweepstakes," coming to the Central Theatre on Sunday, has done a great deal. From the time he was a very small boy he was in a vaudeville act with his father and mother, two brothers, and a sister. During the World War he served as a four-minute speaker and was awarded a special memento for his services as Lieutenant-Commander Payne. He is an excellent saxophone player. At one time he was a newspaper columnist, but soon grew tired of the work and gave it up. He has been in pictures only a few years, and yet he has already reached stardom.

In "Sweepstakes," his latest picture, he plays the part of a famous jockey. Marion Nixon furnishes the love interest, and James Gleason, well known comedian, is responsible for much of the fun. Others in the cast are Lew Cody, Frederic Burton, Paul Hurst, and Lillian Leighton.

Lew Lipton wrote the original story, and directed by Albert Rogell.

THE AUSTIN FILM

TO BE SHOWN TODAY AT "QUEEN'S"

"This Progress," the title of the Austin film showing the manufacture of the popular British car, taking it from beginning to end, is to be shown at the "Queen's" theatre this morning at 12.30 p.m., until about 1.15 p.m. All Austin owners are invited, and all others wishing to see the film should apply to Messrs. Alex Ross and Company, either at their offices in Hong Kong, or at the Garage in Kowloon, for a free ticket.

The film, five reels in length, begins with an amusing historical retrospect of motoring. It swiftly carries the attention of its audience to the most modern methods of motor car production, as exemplified at Longbridge, the home of the Austin car.

The film gives a thorough insight into motor manufacture as can otherwise be obtained only by a personal tour of the factory. It is a treat that should not be missed by any motorist.

"SIX HOURS TO LIVE"

FILM DRAMA OF DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

Warner Baxter, popular screen star, is said to have the most powerful character role of his career in his latest Fox picture, "Six Hours to Live," which opens on Sunday next at the King's Theatre. Adapted from the original story, "Auf Wiedersehen," by Gordon Morris and Morton Berteaux, this picture presents Baxter in the role of an international diplomat, standing firmly in the face of ruin and death, in defense of his country at a disarmament conference.

To the other nations gathered at Geneva, partial disarmament means merely a reduction in taxes for their burdened countrymen but to Baxter's tiny republic, it means placing it at the mercy of powerful and unscrupulous neighbouring States which covet its valuable resources. How he successfully combats a conspiracy to wreck his country, although his mind is distracted by a romantic interlude with a beautiful girl, forms the central theme of the film.

"Six Hours to Live," directed by William Dieterle, marks the screen debut of Miriam Jordan, a beautiful young English girl recently recruited from the Broadway stage. She is said to be generously endowed with that illusive charm which distinguishes the more successful stars, and studio executives are confident that this unusual film will place her within the realm of stardom. John Boles has a featured role and figures very prominently in the denouement of the story.

George Marion, Sr., well remembered for numerous unusual character roles, including his famous "Chris" in "Anna Christie," is prominently cast as Otto Bauer, an eccentric scientist. Halliwell Hobbes is seen and heard as Miss Jordan's father, Edwin Maxwell as a Police Commissioner, John Davidson as Baxter's secretary, and Dewey Robinson as Marion's giant assistant.

The film gives a thorough insight into motor manufacture as can otherwise be obtained only by a personal tour of the factory. It is a treat that should not be missed by any motorist.

"HAT CHECK GIRL"

STORY OF A CLOAK ROOM GIRL

Bringing a swift-moving romance of two very different worlds to the screen, "Hat Check Girl," showing at the King's Theatre to-day with Sally Eilers and Ben Lyon in the leading roles.

Miss Eilers portrays the title part, that of hard-working young lady who handles the hats and wraps at a famous New York night club, and Lyon that of a young millionaire whose first meeting with his future fiancée is when he finds her asleep in his apartment. From this accidental beginning their acquaintance flowers rapidly, complicated by such events as her arrest on a false charge of selling liquor, a ride on the city sprinkling cart when their taxi breaks down, and a trip to the Andromedades during which Lyon proposes, and is accepted.

The course of true love is suddenly halted, however, when Sally's ex-lover, Monroe Owsley, appears at their engagement party and tells things he shouldn't tell. Subsequently Owsley is found dead in the apartment and suspicion naturally falls on Lyon's shoulders, with the police deciding that they have a clear-cut case against him.

Sally's efforts on Lyon's behalf cause the boy's father to think she is only a false publicity for herself, and matters become very tangled indeed, with a climax that is one surprise after another. Directed by Sidney Lanfield, who made Miss Eilers' previous "Dance Team," this Fox Film offering is said to be a treat for picturegoers.

AND THE KENYA
GOLDFIELDS

(Special Air-Mail Service)

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The important Colonial Office statement on the Kenya land question was issued to-day after Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister had had an interview with the Prime Minister. It is the official reply to the strong criticisms that have been made of the amending Native Ordinance in Kenya, which allowed the disturbance of native rights in the Kavirondo reserve, where land is required for gold mining, without adequate provision for compensation in the form of land elsewhere.

The demand for adequate compensation in land will be certainly emphasised when the matter is raised by a debate in the House of Commons shortly after the new session begins, and it will form the subject of a motion which will be put down for discussion in the House of Lords on February 15. Great disappointment was expressed to-day, however, at the omission from the statement of a point to which many people here attach great importance. They are anxious that a portion of the Government levy on the profits of the goldfields in the reserves should be earmarked for native welfare. There is, it is urged, pressing need for such provision. The natives require assistance in carrying on their agriculture, which will be increased as the result of the disturbance resulting from the new conditions of labour in the reserves, the influx of additional expenditure on health services. It is hoped that the Colonial Secretary's silence on this matter does not mean that this aspect has been overlooked. At all events it will not be forgotten in the coming discussions in Parliament.

DEPORTED FROM COLONY

[THROUGH ROUTE'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Feb. 14. QUESTIONS were asked in the House of Commons to-day regarding the recent deportation from Hong Kong of a man named Tan Malakka.

The questioner was Mr. Maxton, one of the Olydeside M.P.s and he asked what charges were laid against Tan Malakka and against Jemaladdin Tamin, who was arrested in Singapore at about the same time.

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary of State for the Colonies, said the Governor of Hong Kong had reported that he issued a Summary Deportation Order against Tan Malakka, who was arrested under the powers conferred upon the Governor-in-Council under the Deportation Amendment Ordinance, 1931, in the case of aliens.

He added that Tan Malakka was not extradited nor handed to the Dutch East Indies authorities. He left Hong Kong for Foochow.

Sir Philip said he had no information of any deportation order in the case of Jemaladdin Tamin, but he would enquire.

Steel piles from Germany for the construction of the Honam Bund are now available for immediate use, according to the Wah Yick Company, contractor of the Bund. The contract for the construction of the Bund was quoted at $2,470,000.

Bias Bay Pirates: Chengting-Taiyuan Railway: Yellow River Rising: Kailu in Ruins: Modern Waterworks: Sir J. Simpson at Shanghai: Municipal Law Revision: Survey of Sian.

Nanking, Feb. 10.—In order to expedite the realization of the Nanking-Berlin air service, Mr. Li Ching Sung, General Manager of the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, will shortly proceed to Soviet Russia to conduct negotiations personally with the Soviet authorities regarding through traffic arrangements between the Chinese and Soviet airway systems.

In the meantime, radio engineers have been despatched to Kansu and Sinkiang for the installation of radio stations at Suchow (Kansu), Hama and Tihua (Sinkiang), in anticipation of the early extension of the Northwest Airway to the Sinkiang-Siberian border. — Kuo Min.

Bias Bay Pirates.

Nanking, Feb. 10.—Reports having been received to the effect that pirates from the notorious Bias Bay are pushing their activities towards the Chekiang coast, the Ministry of the Navy has instructed the Coastal Defence Bureau to institute extra vigilance against piracy. — Kuo Min.

Chengting-Taiyuan Railway.

Nanking, Feb. 10.—The Chengting-Taiyuan Railway Administration has been instructed by the Ministry of Railways to appropriate a sum of $100,000 monthly, for a period of eight months, toward the construction of the Lung-Hai Railway. The appropriations are to begin this month.

It is learnt that substantial aid will, in addition, be obtained by the Ministry from the Tientsin-Pukow and Peiping-Hankow Railways. Building operations on the western extension of the Lung-Hai Railway are at present proceeding on the Tungkuang-Hwayin section, in eastern Shensi. With the receipt of the above-mentioned funds, work will begin on the roadbed of the Hwayin-Weinan section.

The Hwayin-Weinan section covers about 40 miles; another 40 miles will take the line to Sian, auxiliary national capital. — Kuo Min.

Yellow River Rising.

Tsinan, Feb. 10.—With the approach of spring and the thawing of the ice on the Yellow River, every precaution is being taken at various points of the River against possible overflow. Already the water is reported to have risen some 60 or 70 centimetres at several places. — Kuo Min.

Kailu in Ruins.

Peiping, Feb. 10.—According to Mr. Chi Liang, reserve member of the Central Executive Committee, who has returned here from an inspection tour of the various fronts in Jehol, more than 300 bombs have been dropped by the Japanese air planes on the walled city of Kailu, north-eastern Jehol. The whole city is practically in ruins. The number of deaths is so far estimated to be 350. — Kuo Min.

Modern Waterworks.

Foochow, Feb. 10.—The Fukien Provincial Government has decided to install a modern waterworks system for Foochow and has appointed a committee to make the necessary preparations. The committee consists of Messrs. Lin Hui Wen, Fan Chi Yu and Lin Chih Yuan, respectively Commissioners of Reconstruction, Finance and member of the Fukien Provincial Government. — Kuo Min.

Sir J. Simpson at Shanghai.

Hankow, Feb. 10.—Sir John Hope Simpson, Director-General of the National Flood Relief Commission, arrived here from Shanghai to-day. It is stated that he will remain here for a couple of days before proceeding to Honan to inspect the flood relief work still in progress in certain parts of the province. — Kuo Min.

Municipal Law Revision.

Nanking, Feb. 11.—The proposed revision of the Municipality Law formed the subject of an animated debate at yesterday's meeting of the Legislative Yuan. Mr. Sun Fo, President of the Yuan, advocated that the revision shall be drawn up in the light of resolutions adopted at the National Civil Affairs Conference. Questions regarding various aspects of municipal administration, for example, at the present time, for instance, the revision of the Municipal Law, proposed by the Government, is being discussed by the Legislative Yuan. — Kuo Min.

SWATOW NOTES

C.N. Year Celebrations
As Before

AEROPLANE CLASH

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Swatow, February 6. The Chinese New Year this year appeared to have been celebrated by the public in a very enthusiastic manner, and for days previously preparations were made. The day was cold and snappy and "joy-riding" was the chief amusement. The more old-fashioned people bore up well to the old tradition of ninking a round of calls here and there. Everything suggested that the lunar calendar had not been abolished. Firing of crackers was much in evidence, but the usual "lion stunts" in the streets were prohibited. All business was suspended for about a week with the shops remaining closed for that period.

A Union Anniversary.

The Mechanics Union has just celebrated its tenth anniversary. Preparations on a great scale have been made for the occasion. The school, run under its auspices, has been closed for two days, giving the school a holiday. An elaborate reception was held at the headquarters and the attendance was a very representative one. In the middle of the main road a big flowery arch was erected, and music emanated from a loudspeaker to the great pleasure of the crowd. In the evening a grand dinner was attended by the members. It was held in the newly erected Chung Yuen Hotel.

Aeroplane Crash.

A sad disaster occurred here recently when the plane "Swatow No. 1" crashed on the ten-mile flat owing to engine defects. Both wings were broken and the pilot had one of his legs broken. The plane had just arrived from Canton and was said to be a new one purchased by subscriptions from the local merchants.

Communists.

The authorities continue to pay strict attention to the matter of Communist propaganda and many Communist suspects are being rounded up. The other day all buses were stopped and the passengers searched, but pedestrians were not stopped.

Ban on Gambling.

Mahjong is, after all, to be allowed to the general public, but the ban is still enforced against officials, civil and military. It is whispered, however, that these people continue to play the game in the sly. Gambling clubs are still close up and no card playing is permitted in the hotels after 2 a.m.

Political.

The vernacular Press is optimistic as to the Soviet support of China in the dispute with Japan. Chinese feelings are running high against the Japanese and as a result the boycott is getting more stringent every day.

Self governing units, etc. were discussed; it was decided finally to refer the matter to the Legislative and District Autonomy Committees for further examination. — Kuo Min.

Survey of Sian.

Sian, Feb. 11.—Steps preliminary to the creation of a municipality in Sian, auxiliary capital of the National Government, are being taken by the Preparatory Committee for the Construction of the Auxiliary National Capital, in accordance with instructions from the Central Authorities. A survey of Sian has already been completed; plans are being made for large engineering works and the valuation of land. — Kuo Min.

Batavia, Feb. 8.—An impressive demonstration of loyalty to the Dutch Government was given by members of all political parties and of all classes of the population when a speech made by the Governor-General was received with unusual fervor.

VARSITY NEWS

Following the resignation of Mr. D. J. N. Anderson, who has left the Colony for England, to study Law, Mr. R. Woolley has been elected as Editor of the University Union Magazine. Mr. Walter Hunt is now business manager of the Magazine vice Mr. Lam Kow Cheong.

Education Society.

Prof. L. Forster and Prof. W. Brown have been elected President and Vice-President, respectively, of the University Education Society for the year 1933-4. The following are the Hon. Vice-Presidents:—Messrs. N. H. Franco, Li Ka Tung and Chow Koxik. Other new office-bearers are:—Chairman, Mr. S. T. Cheung; Hon. Secretary, Mr. K. O. Tsang; and Hon. Treasurer, Mr. N. C. Chow.

Debate.

"That in the opinion of this house cabarets have a bad influence on the community." This forms the subject of a debate that will be held on February 25 at 8.30 p.m. under the auspices of the Varsity Union. Mr. Lam Kow Cheong will be the proposer, while Mr. Law Chin Fang will oppose the motion.

Inter-Hostel Cricket.

The Inter-Hostel Cricket Tournament will commence on February 23, when the Arts students will meet the Medicine, and on March 1, the Engineers will play against the Arts Team.

Hockey.

The Varsity Hockey Eleven met H.M.S. Medway in a friendly hockey match at the former's ground yesterday afternoon. The undergrads won by 2-0, the scorers being K. S. Ng (in the first half) and T. W. Goh (in the second half). The match was fast and interesting throughout. The Medway goalkeeper was injured during the game.

DENTAL EXPERIMENTS ON DOGS

NONE IN PROGRESS, AND NO ENTRIES FOR COMPETITION.

It has recently been widely asserted in the press of various countries, that the experiments upon the teeth of dogs, forming a part of the proposed competition of the International Dental Federation, were in progress both in Switzerland and in France.

In a communication received by the Tail-Waggers Owners' Association, which, with the Tail-Waggers' Club, organized petitions against the competition that were circulated to all European Governments, the secretary-general of the International Dental Federation, writing from The Hague, states that no experiments are in progress anywhere, and that so far no request has been received from any would-be competitor, to conduct these experiments. The Federation's secretary continues by suggesting that the rumours as to the present conduct of the experiments have been purposely circulated by those who desire to keep alive the agitation which has been evoked throughout the world, with a view to stopping the competition.

RAILWAY BRIDGE BLOWN UP

TAHUSAN-TUNG LIAO LINE
BADLY DAMAGED

Chinchow, February 7.—Railway bridge No. 49 between Kuokiatien and Paoze on the Tungling-Tahusan Railway was blown up early yesterday morning by Chinese Volunteers under General Feng Chan Hai. The damage was so extensive that there is little possibility of immediate repair. The telegraph and telephone lines in this area were also severed.

According to Japanese circles here, Chinese troops under General Ho Chu Kuo are preparing a drive on Chiumen Pass where Japanese troops are stationed. Since Sunday night, every Chinese position on the east side of the Shih Ho has been showing extreme tension. Several attempts to recapture Chiumen Pass, the only pass open from China Proper to Jehol, have been made, by the Chinese during the past fortnight. The "Dare-to-die" corps was sent by Marshal Chang Hsueh Liang, and launched a sudden attack on Japanese troops at the pass at night.

Finding it useless to attack the pass with small detachments, Marshal Chang ordered General Ho Chu Kuo yesterday to send stronger forces.

CONTINENTAL LETTER

Famous Picture Sold: Germany's Unemployed: Death of An Austrian Cardinal: Karenski on His Trade: Richard Wagner's Portrait.

PARIS

Richard Wagner's Portrait.

Paris, February 5.—The well-known portrait of Richard Wagner, executed by the famous French painter Renoir at Palermo in 1882, has been acquired at an auction sale of a valuable collection of works of French impressionists, by the French pianist Alfred Cortot, who paid 270,000 Francs for it. The picture had hitherto been exhibited in the Museum of the Grand Opera here.

Heated Debates.

Paris, February 9.—The fate of the Daladier Government will remain in suspense until the end of this week when the budget debate opens in the Chamber.

The financial bills of the Government were passed to-day by the Chamber's financial committee after a heated debate in the course of which the socialists opposed a part of the project, including the contemplated reduction of the civil servants' salaries over 20,000 francs, with the socialists proposing to levy a crisis tax on all incomes amounting to more than 25,000 francs. It will be remembered that the Budget was duly carried.

BERLIN

Berlin, February 9.—Big increases in the customs tariff were decreed to-day by the Government in pursuance of the policy always insisted upon by the National People's Party and its head, the present Minister of Economy and Agriculture Dr. Hugenberg, to protect German agriculture and to prevent foreign countries from sending their products to Germany.

These increases include a 500 per cent. rise in the duty on lard and a doubling of the duties on chilled meat while the rate on cattle on hoof is also substantially increased. The new rates become operative to-day.

The Unemployed.

Berlin, February 9.—That the number of the German unemployed has during the second half of January still further increased was announced to-day when the official half-monthly statistics were published. According to these figures the total of the unemployed is now 6,490,000, constituting an increase since January 15 of 78,000 and being by 28,000 less than on the corresponding date of last year.

COLOGNE

No Dividend.

Cologne, February 5.—The great department store firm of Leonhard Tietz, which has branches in all the bigger cities of Germany, will, it was announced to-day, not distribute any dividend for the past financial year. This is the first time in the history of this company that no dividend has been.

Last year the dividend amounted to 5 per cent., while in the preceding years once 8 per cent. and three times 10 per cent. were paid.

ROME

Death of a Cardinal.

Rome, February 9.—The death is announced of Cardinal Andreas Fruehwirth, member of the Sacred College and head of the Supreme Penitentiary at the ripe age of 87. The Cardinal was born in 1845 in Styria, Austria, became member of the Order of St. Dominicus in 1863, and in 1891 General of this order. He was raised to the Purple by Pope Benedict XV. in 1915, was from 1907/18 Papal Nuncio and since that time lived in Rome devoting a great part of his time to editing the works of St. Thomas Aquinas.

RIGA

Latvia Stunts Out Karenski.

Riga, February 9.—Alexander Karenski, who in March, 1917, became the head of the revolutionary government in Russia until he was defeated by the Bolsheviks, has been refused permission to enter Latvia where he intended to give a series of lectures on Russia during the time of his administration, and on the political and economic situation in the Soviet Union. The Government rejected his application for a visa because it was afraid of objections on the part of the Moscow authorities, as Karenski was expected to use his lectures for political propaganda against Moscow and for trying to strengthen the organization of the White-Russians living in Latvia.

VEHICULAR FERRY MAN KUNG

Trial Berthing At Kowloon

HARBOUR CROSSED IN 9 MINUTES

The new vehicular ferry Man Kung made her first trials at berthing under her own power yesterday afternoon at the piers both at Hong Kong and Kowloon.

The vessel, carrying a load of pig-iron was coxswained by Captain Williams, of the Kowloon Docks. The berthing at the Hong Kong pier was somewhat tricky owing to the strong currents prevailing and the unprotected position of the pier. After this the trip was made to Kowloon in the unofficial time of 9 minutes, where a perfect berthing was made at the pier off Jordan Road.

The ramp, which is lowered by a machine, is fitted snugly to the nose of the ferry-boat permitting motor vehicles to enter with ease.

The technical details of the Gardner Diesel engines which propel the ferry-boats are given below.

The main propelling units consist of a twin set of Gardner 319 marine cold starting 2 strokes heavy oil engines, each developing 400 B.H.P. at 300 R.P.M. A rather novel feature of these engines is that clutches are fitted at each end and it is possible either to transmit the power at the Forward or After end of the engine leaving one set of propellers idling. The main engines are also fitted with an air compressor, circulating and bilge pumps.

The auxiliary engines consist of the well-known Gardner 4L2 4 cycle vertical type high speed compression ignition oil engines, direct coupled to Lancashire Dynamo and Motor Co.'s generators, of 24.5 k.w. at 110 volts D.C. It is a matter of interest that one machine is entirely capable of looking after the whole electrical machinery and lighting.

There is an auxiliary Gardner 2 stage air compressor which is driven by a Lancashire Dynamo and Motor Co.'s motor of 7 1/2 H.P. This set is mounted on a combination bed plate.

One oil transfer pump and stand-up circulating water pump. This pump is made by the well-known manufacturers Pulsometer, and is of the centrifugal type, complete with drive from Lancashire Dynamo and Motor Co.'s motor.

The oil transfer pump is of the Rotopumps type which is chain driven from the commutator end of the motor.

The general service pump consists of one Mather and Platt's Pump-driven centrifugal pump capable of delivering 100 gallons per minute to a total of 100 ft. This is driven by an 18 B.H.P. electric motor.

We also notice that there is fitted a Vickers centrifugal oil separator.

JAT REGIMENT SPORTS

Athletic Meeting 'At K.C.C.

KEEN INTER-COMPANY COMPETITION

The annual athletic sports of the 3rd Battalion 9th Jat Regiment took place yesterday at the Kowloon Cricket Club ground.

There was a very large attendance and the grounds were colourfully decorated with bunting. Keen competition and inter-company rivalry was very evident throughout and the programme included many interesting events, including a novel spectators' race.

Among those present were Major-General and Mrs. C. O. Borrett, G.O.C., Colonel and Mrs. Newworthy, Colonel and Mrs. Myles, Lieut.-Colonel W. L. Hailes, M.C., Officer commanding the Jat Regiment, Colonel Boyd, Miss Boyd, Lt.-Col. Thom, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Marsden, the Hon. Mr. E. D. C. Wolfe, C.M.G., Inspector-General of Police, Colonel, Mrs. and Miss Bird, Commander and Mrs. Wright, R.N., Commander and Lady Mary Barton, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Raikes, Lt.-Col. Foys, Commander T. M. Smith, R.N., Mr. Dent and Lady Furnival.

Frontier Dance.
At intervals during the sports a very interesting military display was given representing an incident on the Northwestern frontier of India. The display showed a village marriage ceremony, and an attack by tribesmen who, kill several villagers and kidnap the happy couple after a "hard fight." One of the party, however, escapes and informing the frontier guard, rescue expedition sets out and a battle ensues, in which a glorified firecracker display and huge bomb-crackers provided the proper noises off. The rebel fort is destroyed and the captives set free. The Indian music and dance, of the marriage ceremony were most fascinating.

"C" Company Wins.
The result of the inter-company competition on aggregate of points was won by "C" Company (commanded by Major J. R. Henry) with 44 points after a keen tussle with "B" Company who were second with 33 points. "B" Company has held the championship for two years in succession. "A" Company took third place with 29 points, M.G. Company fourth with 25 points, and H.Q. Wing last with 8 points.

THE RESULTS.
100 Yards Relay.—1. "C" Company. 2. "B" Company. Time: 44.3/5 seconds.
High Jump.—"B" Company. "A" Company. Height: 5ft. 1in. (Continued on next column)

Kowloon 25 Years Ago

A RECEIPT FOR RENT

Action was brought by Ruttonjee and Son against C. J. Davis for $30, being the amount of one month's rent for the floor of the house, 48, Elgin Street, Kowloon. Mr. F. X. D'Almada e Castro appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. P. W. Goldring acted for the defendant.

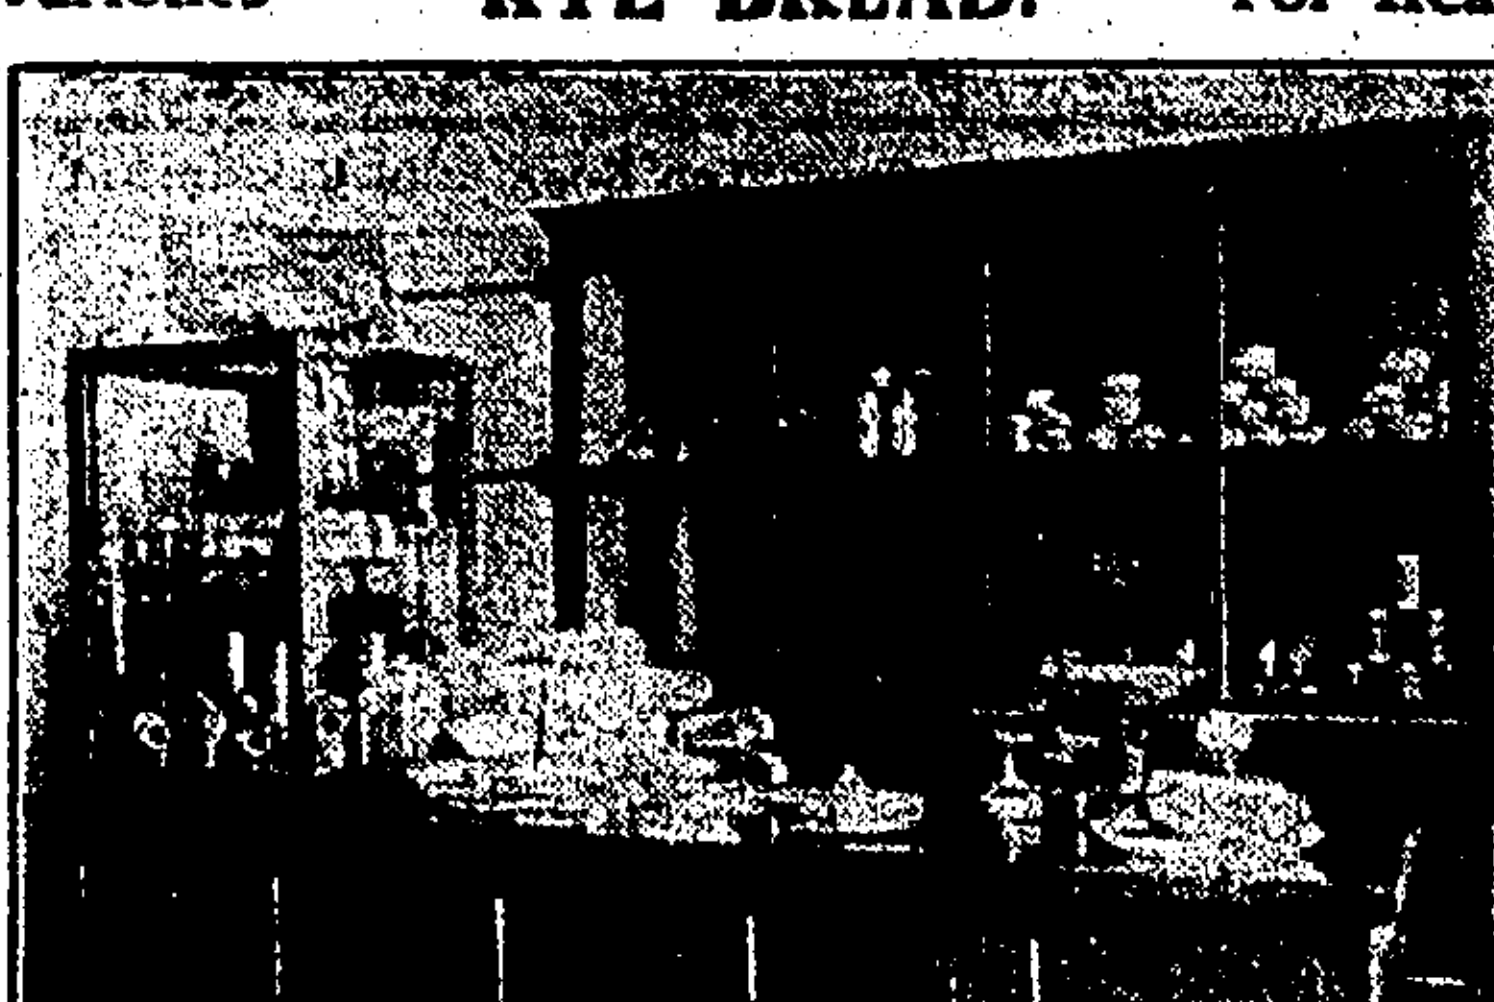

Plaintiff's case was that the floor was let to the defendant in December. He paid one month's rent in advance but did not pay the rent for January. Plaintiff was informed by his manager that when he had called for the rent Mrs. Davis had produced a paper which she declared was a receipt, and refused to pay the amount claimed. Plaintiff accompanied his man to the house and saw Mrs. Davis who behaved in a very "ungentlemanlike manner" and told him to go away. His custom was to issue receipts for the rent which were countersigned on the payment of the money at the Kowloon store.

The defence was that the rent had been paid and that the receipt produced was a discharge of the obligation incurred by the defendant. It was not suggested that there was any fraud on the part of plaintiff or his collector but it was probable that the latter had made a mistake.

His Lordship, Mr. A. G. Wise, said that on the question of the receipt there were two men against one and he could not say that plaintiff had proved his case without saying those men were guilty of wilful perjury. There was loophole that the collector had made a mistake and judgment would be for defendant with costs.—Hong Kong Daily Press, February 10, 1933.

WHY WE ARE IN KOWLOON.

Last Spring we decided that the popular shopping district of the future will be in Kowloon. We looked about and took space which we considered to be ideal for the Jade Tree needs. Now we have decided that it is a mistake to divide stocks, so we have taken additional space in Kowloon. Here we have light, air, space to show our merchandise properly—and best of all an overhead that will admit of our selling the well-known high quality Jade Tree merchandise at the low prices at which we want to sell it.

Everyone arrives in Kowloon. Everyone leaves from Kowloon. An increasing number of people are coming to live in Kowloon. Hong Kong people attend various social functions here, they play golf at Fanling. We think they will also shop in Kowloon—when they know the many advantages of it. We invite them all to come in and see our new premises. Drop in for cup of tea on the way home from golf—or work—and judiciously do the shopping that would otherwise be a task to carry over for another day.

BAD BUILDING AT KOWLOON CITY

Conviction Upheld At Second Hearing

FINE AND DEMOLITION

The case in which Chan Yeung, a building contractor was fined $500 for having used inferior material in the construction of a building on K.I.L. No. 2794, Sung Street, Kowloon City, was reheard at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when Mr. C. Y. Kwan, appearing for the defendant, asked for a reduction of the fine.

It will be recalled that at the first hearing, Mr. A. F. Reynolds, who appeared for the prosecution, described the cement used in the construction as the worst seen in Kowloon, and that the whole structure was "shocking."

The defendant denied the allegations, and said that the materials were used with the approval of the architects, Messrs. J. S. Gibson and Company. This statement was refuted by Mr. Gibson yesterday.

In asking for a reduction of the fine, Mr. Kwan said that according to the newspaper account of the case, the prosecution had alleged that it was the worst case they had brought into Court. He now asked Mr. Gibson, the architect of the building complained of, to give evidence on the technical points. Mr. Kwan thought it would only be fair to Mr. Gibson to say that if material had been used by the defendant's workmen, it was not done with the approval of Mr. Gibson.

Mr. Gibson was then called and said that he prepared the plans for the construction of the building complained of.

Mr. Kwan:—Have you examined the buildings?—No, not the buildings. I saw the site before building commenced, and my chief assistant has visited the building weekly since erection started. My assistant is a fully qualified man.

His Worship:—(Mr. H. R. Butters) What do you mean by a fully qualified man?—He has had five years' experience with me and 10 years in the building trade before that.

That's what you mean when you say he is a fully qualified man?—Yes. I have every confidence in my representative who visited this building.

His Worship:—What is the name of this representative?—Mr. Lo Man-chuen.

His Worship: (to Mr. Kwan):—Is Mr. Lo giving evidence?—No, your Worship.

Mr. Kwan:—Since the erection, have you examined this building?—Mr. Gibson:—Not until I heard from the Building Authority that there was something wrong.

And when was that?—When the building was up to the first floor level.

Mr. Gibson then went on to tell the Court of the result of his examination. He said that the walls up to the first floor level were constructed with cement concrete, but above that the material used was so bad that the structure had to be demolished. The staging round the walls had been removed before the proper time, but he did not think this would affect the stability of the building. Mr. Gibson added that he was responsible for the stability of the building and for adherence to the approved plans.

Continuing, Mr. Gibson said that the columns were camouflaged and patched up by the contractors when he went to examine them, with the result that he could not see what was inside.

Good in Parts.

Referring to the verandah, Mr. Gibson said that it was more or less rickety towards the front, but this did not matter as it would be adjusted when tiles were laid. He admitted that portions of the building had been built with bad material, but he thought the good portions should remain instead of having to be demolished, as the Building Authority had ordered. In his opinion, the building was stable enough.

The only way to find out the stability of the building is to put a load on it and see if it will stand the load," he added.

His Worship:—Do you mean the stability of a building could only be tested by actual experiment?

If there is a dispute about it, your Worship, it seems to me that this is the only course to adopt.

Mr. Kwan:—Mr. Gibson, do you consider this building dangerous?

—No, certainly not.

Mr. Gibson then added that he could not definitely give his opinion, as he could not see certain parts of the building when he examined it.

After Mr. Gibson had given evidence, Mr. Kwan said that his client had assumed full responsibility for the use of bad material, but the work was left in the hands of the foreman.

His Worship, decided that he could not alter his former decision, and re-imposed the fine of $500 or three months.

For being in unlawful possession of 59,500 piu tickets of a face value of $51,500, two women and a man were each sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Mr. Butters at Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. It was stated by the Police that the seizure was one of the biggest made in recent months. The tickets were found on a passenger boat at Shamshui.

THE LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

Mr. Braga's Questions About Dancing Academies

"GROWING SOCIAL EVIL"

At to-day's meeting of the Legislative Council the Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, pursuant to notice, will ask the following questions:—

1. Is the Honourable the Inspector-General of Police aware that cabarets and "dancing academies" so-called are being regarded as a growing social evil in the Colony and are a cause of very real anxiety and dissatisfaction among parents because of the dangers to which they expose young and inexperienced people?

2. Will the same Honourable Member kindly compile, for the information of this Council, a return showing respectively, for Hong Kong and Kowloon:—

(a) the number of cabarets, or "dancing academies" so-called, now carrying on business with the knowledge and permission of the Police authorities;

(b) the premises within which the cabaret business is conducted;

(c) between what hours they are permitted to remain open to the public; and

(d) the periods for which these places of entertainment are allowed to continue their business.

3. Are any regulations extant permitting of the licensing of cabarets in the Colony? If not, is it contemplated to regulate the business of cabarets by law?

4. If the reply to the preceding question is in the negative, will the Government consider the expediency of the early framing of regulations for licensing cabarets and similar establishments in Hong Kong?

5. Are cabarets in the Colony restricted as to number; if so, what is the maximum number for Hong Kong and Kowloon, respectively?

6. Does the Inspector-General of Police consider that such numbers have been attained, and if not will he limit the number and so discourage the opening of any more establishments devoted to commercialised dancing?

Other Business.

The Colonial Secretary will move:—

That the Report of the Finance Committee (No. 10), dated Feb. 2, 1933, be adopted.

The Attorney-General will move:—

That the order dated February 6, 1931, made by the Chief Justice under section 113 of the Bankruptcy Ordinance, 1931, be approved.

The Attorney-General will move the second reading of:—

"A Bill to amend further the Code of Civil Procedure."

"A Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Arms and Ammunition."

"A Bill to amend further the Printers and Publishers Ordinance, 1927."

"A Bill to amend the Supreme Court (Vacations) Ordinance, 1928."

"TOC H" MEETING

LOCAL GROUP GETTING TOGETHER.

"ToC H" family meeting was held on Tuesday evening at the recently acquired new Headquarters of the local branch of movement situated in the Chartered Bank Building. Some twenty members and probationers attended, and also present were three visitors from the Empress of Britain.

According to the existing rules of "ToC H" family night is held periodically to discuss the work being done locally by the movement, and to put forward plans and ideas as to possibilities of future labours.

At the meeting on Tuesday Mr. J. E. Richardson was the speaker, and at future meetings other well known gentlemen are to give informal talks on subjects in which "ToC H" might interest itself from an active and working view point.

MISS SCOTT HARSTON ROBBED

HOUSEBOY WHO STOLE SOVEREIGNS.

Before Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday, a houseboy employed by Mr. J. Scott Harston of 620, The Peak was charged with the theft of a number of sovereigns belonging to Miss Pamela Scott Harston.

It was stated by the prosecution that Miss Scott Harston had eleven English sovereigns which she kept in a locked drawer of her dressing table. On February 6 she found seven of the coins missing, and on the advice of the Police, marked

THAT SHAVIAN FANTASY

[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONG KONG DAILY PRESS."]

Sir,—Now that much of that Shavian fervour has cooled down, and most of the distinguished personages have left, perhaps we might reflect on the events of the past few days with a saner view. The greatest of all mistakes ever committed by the University authorities was the invitation to Shaw to speak to the students. All who know this world famous egoist will agree that to get Shaw to speak before an assembly of young students is to court trouble, for the utterances of this man have been most indiscreet. He has, as he himself rightly confessed, caused enough mischief in India and has been a source of worries to those who have to entertain him. Shaw the man may be likeable, but Shaw the genius is far too egotistic for the liking of those who shun the limelight.

Shaw advised the students to give up their study and to debate with their tutors. In other words, he advised them to be as controversial as himself. One should not agree with an opinion even if one knows that it is right, that is Shaw's idea of success in life. One must not even agree with Shaw himself, then, because his doctrine is not only unsound, but thoroughly harmful to the young men who listened to him. I have no doubt that they were disappointed with Shaw, for they must have expected better things of him than soap-box oratory. Shaw has done much damage to our sense of learning, and it is now up to those responsible for his action to purge the poisonous stuff instilled into the young minds by him, and it will need some purging!

Now that Shaw has left, we might breathe a sigh of relief, but next when we see a Communist from the interior of China preaching the doctrine of Lenin we must not arrest him, or British justice would be unjust, unless Shaw himself also received the same attention from the guardians of the law for a similar offence. The Law is truly an Hass—Yours, etc.,

REUTER BROCKELMANN'S CLAIM AGAINST WING ON

ADJOURNED FOR LEGAL POINT TO BE CONSIDERED.

Before Mr. Justice Wood yesterday, Messrs. Reuter Brockelmann and Co., claimed $446.29 and $640.60 from The Wing On Company of 42 Wing On Street arising out of the latter's failure to take delivery of certain goods.

The first claim was the balance due the plaintiffs on one case of American design woollen goods which had to be auctioned. The second claim was in respect of two cases of melton which was also auctioned.

The plaintiffs were represented by Mr. P. M. Hodgson while the defendants did not put in an appearance.

The case was adjourned sine die to Chambers by the Puisne Judge in order to enable the plaintiffs to consider a legal point arising out of the claims.

KATHERINE BUILDINGS

IMPOSING NEW FLATS AT KOWLOON.

A large block of new flats called "Katherine Building" in Nathan Road between Austin and Jordan Roads, have been completed and are now being taken up by tenants.

An imposing row of fourteen shops, with large front windows, is provided on the ground floor. The upper floors contain three flats which include four large living rooms, two bathrooms, two kitchens, and servants quarters. Garages are also provided at the rear of the buildings.

Messrs. S. J. David and Company are the owners of these new buildings.

The remaining four. On February 12 two of these were discovered to have been stolen. As a result of enquiries made by the Police, the defendant was arrested and he admitted that he had taken them to various goldsmith shops where the coins had been sold, and melted down. In all the defendant received $180 for the nine sovereigns.

The defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour and also ordered to pay Miss Scott Harston $600 compensation, or to undergo a further term of two months' hard labour.

"COCKRAN'S THROW-OUTS"

AMUSING SHOW AT SAILORS' & SOLDIERS' HOME

A very delightful concert was given last night at the Assembly Room of the Sailors' & Soldiers' Home where a large gathering of service men and local residents were treated to a fine programme of dance and songs by members of the Cheero Club.

Mr. Ronnie True and his band provided the musical items which were as much appreciated as the songs and dance. Those who took part in the concert were Eve O'Hagan, Betty Lang, Ellen Bellamy, Margaret King, Rosemary King, Joan Churchill, Ellen Bonnar and Audrey Steel.

The audience were not slow to show their appreciation of the excellent fare provided and quite a number of encores had to be given. The full programme was as follows:—

1. Opening Chorus—Sing Brothers—The Girls.
2. Song—The Flies—crawled up the Window—The Girls.
3. Dance—Duet—Eve O'Hagan & Audrey Steel.
4. Song—Tell me to-night—Ellen Bellamy.
5. Song—Living in Clover—Audrey Steel & The Girls.
6. Selections—The Band—Ronnie True, etc.
7. Dance—The Peanut Vendor—Rosemary King & The Girls.
8. Song—Paradise—Margaret King.
9. Duet—Gosh, Dar!—Ronnie True & Audrey Steel.
10. Song and Dance—Crazy People—Ellen Bonnar, Betty Lang, Joan Churchill & The Girls.
11. Song and Dance—I got Rhythm—Audrey Steel, Ellen Bellamy & Margaret King.
12. Dance—Chorus—The Girls.
13. Closing Chorus—The Girls.

Dances arranged by Miss Audrey Steel. There seems to have been some misunderstanding about the title of these girls. They have been called "The Sunshine Girls" and "The Effervescent Eight." But we have it on good authority, from one of the girls themselves, that these names are entirely imaginary. Their proper title, appeared on the programme, when they performed for the S.V.B.'s on Wednesday last as "Cockran's Throw-outs."

A DANGER TO THE ROADS

CRASHES CAR WHEN PARTIALLY DRUNK

Mr. Adolphe Bain, proprietor of Athena, of Gloucester Building was commended by Mr. Schofield at Central Magistracy yesterday on arresting a young Indian named Ajjan Singh who was charged with driving an Austin Seven belonging to Mr. H. John of 74, Morrison Hill Road, without the permission of the owner.

Sub-Inspector Saunders, who prosecuted, told the Court that the complainant left his car near a filling station. Mr. Bain was walking along Canal Road West when he saw the car crash into the doorway of a house. He ran to the spot and saw the defendant, who was the sole occupant of the car, jump out and run away, and Mr. Bain gave chase and caught him.

Inspector Saunders added that the defendant was a licensed driver, but a few weeks ago turned his father's Austin Seven over at Repulse Bay.

The defendant pleaded guilty and said that he had been drinking with some friends and was partially drunk.

His Worship fined the defendant $50, ordered him to pay $12 compensation to Mr. John, and recommended that his licence be cancelled.

In commending Mr. Bain, his Worship said: "I would like to thank you very heartily for the assistance you have given to the Police in this matter; you have removed a danger from the roads."

ICE CLUB'S SKATING GALA

DUKE AND DUCHESS OF YORK TO BE PRESENT

London, Jan. 30. The Duke and Duchess of York have consented to be present at the Ice Club's 1933 Skating Gala on March 23.

Following their annual custom of devoting the proceeds from the gala to some deserving institution, the Ice Club have chosen as the beneficiaries this year the Earl Haig British Legion Appeal Fund and the London and Greater London Playing Fields Association.

The proceeds from the 1933 gala will be equally divided between these two organisations.

SHANGHAI GREYHOUND RACING CASE

CLAIM AGAINST GENERAL E. B. MACNAUGHTEN AND ACTING COMMISSIONER OF POLICE

POLICY OF SUPPRESSION DENIED BY S.M.C.

Shanghai Feb. 10.—The Luna Park case yesterday lost a great deal of its interest for the general public, the whole of the day being devoted to legal argument on Mr. Holborow's motion for dismissal on the ground that no case against the two defendants had been made. Mr. Holborow had not concluded when the Court rose for the day, and he will continue this morning, Mr. Reider Harris's reply following.

The case, which is being heard by the Chief Judge (Sir Peter Grain) and a jury of five—Messrs. W. J. Dexter, C. S. Gilson, J. Macbeth, J. S. Flood, and R. Hobday—is a claim for damages of $2,500,000 by the Greyhound Racing Association (China), Ltd., against Capt. R. M. J. Martin and Brig-Gen. E. B. Macnaughten, who, at the time of the incident out of which the action arose, were, respectively, Acting Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Municipal Council. Mr. M. Reider Harris, with Mr. R. F. C. Master, appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. A. O. Holborow, with Mr. J. E. Bodeley, for the defendants; and Mr. Ronald G. McDonald watched the case on behalf of interested parties.

"Victim of Spleen."

Mr. Holborow said it was monstrous that Gen. Macnaughten should have been selected as the victim of the plaintiff's spleen because they were not prepared to take their action to the Court of Consuls, as they said that Court would not be unbiased. Therefore they turned round to see who they could make their victim and they selected a gentleman who happened to be the Chairman of the Municipal Council and was rendering voluntary services to the community. They had joined him in the action, although there was not one scintilla of evidence to justify him being so joined or made liable in any way whatsoever. It was alleged that it was by Gen. Macnaughten's direction, or the Council's direction, that Capt. Martin did the acts he was alleged to have done on the evening of April 4, 1931. Yet no evidence had been adduced that Gen. Macnaughten gave any kind of directions. There was in the pleadings, filed more than a year ago, Gen. Macnaughten's statement that he gave no directions. There was no evidence that he had any knowledge of what took place or that he was in any way concerned with what was proved to have happened.

Further, it was asserted that whatever was done was a deed in pursuance of the declared policy of the Municipal Council permanently to prevent greyhound racing in the International Settlement. That was an allegation of fact, but the defence denied that the Council had declared that to be its policy, and no evidence had been adduced to prove the contention of the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs claimed that the police, led by Capt. Martin, entered upon the property alleged to have been leased by the plaintiffs from the Council and by the plaintiffs to the club, but again there was no evidence to support that, Mr. Buyers only stating that he understood that was what happened. The police were said to have prevented the plaintiffs and members of the club from entering the premises. All that had been done was that Mr. Harris sought to bring evidence victoriously that he was himself prevented from entering Luna Park, but it had not been proved that Mr. Harris was a member of the club and Mr. Buyers did not say that he was stopped himself.

Council's Dilemma.

"What is there for Gen. Macnaughten to answer?" asked Mr. Holborow. "If I put him in the box, what can I ask him? He has done nothing. What possible question can I put to him?"

Mr. Holborow then quoted various legal authorities dealing with Gen. Macnaughten's position as a member of the Council and said that, if the alleged act were ultra vires, then it was not a corporate act and not an act of the Council. It was impossible to allege that the Council did anything. There was nothing to show that Gen. Macnaughten, either as a councillor or an individual, did anything whatever.

Capt. Martin's Defence.

As to Capt. Martin, there was no evidence that the plaintiffs or members of the club were prevented or kept prevented from entering upon Luna Park, which rendered immaterial the fact that it had not been proved that anyone was a member of the club. Also there was no evidence that Capt. Martin or the police did enter, wrongfully or otherwise, upon Luna Park. Mr. Holborow said he also denied the existence of any leases with regard to Luna Park except as regards one little piece from which they had not been permitted to remove grave-mounds and where they could not race dogs unless it was "cross country."

The Judge said there were two points on which he would like to hear argument. Was there any authority for the argument that a lease could not be renewed by correspondence, and that there must be a new lease, or was that merely an argument on principle. Also, the company apparently allowed the club, almost as their employee, to carry on the pari-mutuel on the condition that they paid over all the proceeds to the company, and out of those proceeds the company continued to pay the rent. Therefore it seemed to him the G.R.A. as occupiers had put the club in as their licensee. Could there be a trespass on the premises of the occupiers' licensee? There could be a trespass on the premises of the occupier.

Mr. Holborow reserved argument on these two points and continued to quote legal authorities on his other contentions, the hearing eventually being adjourned.

MR. G. LOWDER LEAVES CHINA

Dinner Party at Shanghai Club

HALF A CENTURY IN THE FAR EAST

Shanghai.—A number of friends of Mr. E. Gordon Lowder, retired Commissioner of Customs, who is leaving for home by the Antenor on Sunday, entertained him to dinner at the Shanghai Club last Wednesday evening, when the opportunity was taken of wishing him bon voyage.

Mr. Gordon Lowder has spent 50 years in China, and for no less a period than 40 years was associated with the Customs service.

Born in Japan in 1882—the year in which Abraham Lincoln signed the act authorising the commencement of the transcontinental railway—Mr. Gordon Lowder was educated at Marlborough, and joined the Chinese Customs service in 1883. He has been Commissioner of Customs in Newchwang, Kowloon, Amoy, Hankow, and finally Shanghai. His appointment in this city dated from twelve years ago, but he had previously been stationed here as Commissioner for a few months in 1909, during which time the "Astra channel" was opened. Shortly after he took up control of the Customs in Shanghai, in 1921, the committee of consulting engineers visited the city for the purpose of debating the question of improvement of the approaches to the port.

In Customs Inspectorate.

After retiring on super-annuation in 1932, Mr. Lowder spent about five months in the home country before resuming residence in Shanghai. Though he has for many years been so closely identified with the affairs of Shanghai, he stated that the period of his service which he valued most was that of five years as audit secretary in the Inspectorate of Customs at Peiping. Incidentally, he was the last Commissioner to receive his appointment as such from the great Inspector-General, Sir Robert Hart, on the retirement of the latter in 1908.

Mr. Gordon Lowder has been a member of the Shanghai Club for 25 years, and of the Country Club for about 20 years, besides belonging to the Race Club. He has rendered valuable assistance as a member of the Board of Film Censors and of the S.M.C. Library Committee. During the past few months he has been engaged in preparing his memoirs for private circulation. His principal object in writing them is to assist students of Chinese history by reference to outstanding events in the affairs of the country which coincide with the principal dates of his own career, and which he himself has first-hand collection.

HONG KONG, FEBRUARY 16, 1933.

BRITAIN SEES IT THROUGH.

This confident and cheerful address by Mr. G. WARD PRICE at Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary Club came as a tonic to local nerves somewhat jangled by news from the North, on top of general apprehension as to whether the Economic Depression is likely to affect the Colony more this year than in 1932. Mr. WARD PRICE declared that as far as Great Britain was concerned the economic depression had "not only reached its climax, but perhaps passed it." The year 1933 was a nightmare, but, even at this very short interval of time it is well to recall what was achieved at Home to lay the foundation for Mr. WARD PRICE's optimism.

Despite the serious problems which remain to be solved, the people of Great Britain can look back on that year with a proud feeling of national achievement, an achievement which is nothing less than the re-establishment of their country's credit throughout the world. In face of low prices, contracting markets, unemployment, and an unbalanced state of production and consumption, every country had a difficult struggle in the economic field; and none has had a stiffer uphill fight than the British. But each individual citizen has shown the same cheerfulness in suffering personal hardship and privation, and the same unflinching determination to "pull together" for the common good. The ordinary man has once again proved himself well endowed with the extraordinarily good qualities of courage, determination, patience and persistency. Without this general goodwill on the part of the people, the Government could have achieved but little; with it the Government has done more than our visitor seemed willing to admit. The solidity of the country was restored. The Budget was balanced. The huge sums borrowed abroad to meet the financial crisis of the previous year were repaid; the many restrictions imposed upon commerce and industry were removed; and the foreign currencies of the world were restored to their former position.

minimum of delay and large numbers of British taxpayers anticipated the demands.

Quietly and without fuss, the nation abandoned its traditional free trade policy and, as a much-needed weapon of defence, adopted a system of tariffs. A conference of representatives of the British Commonwealth met at Ottawa and signed agreements for mutual commercial protection. Dominion and Colonial producers were to enjoy a favoured position in the British markets, and British manufacturers were to be given more equitable treatment in the markets of the Dominions. Tariff reform and Imperial preference helped to improve trade in various directions, and a number of industries rapidly benefited from the more favourable conditions thus created. In the nine months from January to September, 1932, the excess of imports of goods over exports was reduced by £70,000,000 as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year.

Having created a more favourable atmosphere by the balancing of the Budget and improving the country's bargaining powers in the world markets through tariffs and protection, the Government made another bold move. Again relying, and that with absolute justification, on the patriotic temper of the public, the Government launched the biggest conversion scheme in history. On the first of July the conversion of £20,000,000 War Loan from a 5½ per cent. to a 3½ per cent. basis was launched. This vast operation was prepared with complete thoroughness, and it was carried through with complete smoothness. Subsequent conversion loans on a smaller scale were also effected with success, with the result that 36 per cent. of the nation's internal debt has now been converted from an average interest rate of five to one of 3½ per cent. The first conversion loan involved a net saving to the country of about £23,000,000; subsequent conversions have brought this to a £30,000,000 reduction on the Budget burdens, even when losses on Income Tax receipts have been allowed for.

In the industrial world the relations between employers and employees were generally good throughout the year. There were disputes in the transport and cotton industries, but they were not of a very serious character, and the succession of troubles in the cotton industry were really a legacy from the previous year. On the railways and in the mining industry difficulties arose, and various discussions are still taking place; but 1933 escaped conflicts in these leading sections of the industrial world. Meanwhile confidence steadily increased in practically every sphere of activity. The British public quite realises that there are still obstacles to be overcome, but there is no disposition to slackness, or to abandon endeavour and enterprise. It is hoped and believed that the greater sacrifices are to be made for the British people; but the Government has no special proposals with regard to the taxation of the people.

BERNARD SHAW'S SIGNATURE

HOW IT WAS OBTAINED BY A RUSE

Bernard Shaw's refusal to sign an autograph album at the University on Monday led to a hat at one of the local clubs on the following day as to whether G.B.S.'s signature could be obtained by a ruse.

A local solicitor undertook to obtain the great dramatist's signature, the stakes being, appropriately—a drink. The ruse he adopted was to send G.B.S. a book which had recently been the object of much controversy in this part of the world, accompanied by a letter pointing out the interesting features in the book and adding:—"No acknowledgment is required."

The next morning the solicitor concerned received a letter on "Canadian Pacific," newspaper, reading as follows:—"Dear Sir, It is very kind of you to send me. I cannot deny myself the pleasure of sending you this word of grateful acknowledgment."

Faithfully,
Sd. G. BERNARD SHAW."

THE UNIVERSITY SPEECH

Mr. BERNARD SHAW's address on Monday has caused more perturbation outside the University than within it. Consciously or unconsciously Mr. BERNARD SHAW was merely repeating what every "various teacher worth his salt, tells his pupils on first seeing them. Think for yourself. Don't accept a statement made by a lecturer or professor. Argue with your teachers—if you get the chance—then you hear the other side of the question. Read the big books by great men, and not the little examination text books. Go, if you can, to original sources of information." As to the suggestion to steep themselves in Communist literature; there is nothing in that. If a person has Communist leanings let him work it off at a University, where his comrades, far more than his tutors, will argue the nonsense out of him. To most people the best cure for Communist tendencies is to read the tedious text-books on the subject. Communism is bred by real grievances, and by an innate dislike of one's surroundings—not by a few words, even from Mr. SHAW. The amusing thing is that while Mr. SHAW probably imagined that he was being daring and original, he was only firing off commonplace professorial patter.

It may be replied that what is quite suitable for sober-minded British students is far too heady for young people in China where revolution and Communism are grim realities and not the subject for academic trifling. Hong Kong University is not exactly an institution for the horny-handed sons of toil. It will take more than a few minutes' jesting to turn its students into dangerous "Reds." A little of Mr. SHAW goes a long way, and he has left us for good and all. We are far too solid to be upset by his little volley of jokes. If he were making his home here it would be a different matter. Had Mr. SHAW kept silence no doubt that would have given cause for offence. He talked long and affably to presumes, he talked well, if not quite wisely at the University, and now, if truth be told, we all want to know what he will write about Hong Kong. It is never safe to bet, but the probability is—nothing!

LOOKING BACK 75 YEARS

The Adventurer (H.M. steamer transport) arrived on the 4th with the remainder of the 70th. She brought nothing later from Calcutta—her dates from Singapore read to 22nd ult. Nothing had been heard of the mail. The report of the Alma, with the China mails of 18th November, having broken down the day after leaving Galle is confirmed, and as she was intended to bring the London mails of 19th December its non receipt is accounted for.—Hong Kong Daily Press, February 16, 1858.

LOOKING BACK 50 YEARS

The second annual ordinary meeting of the Hong Kong Ice Co., Ltd., was held at the office of the General Managers, Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co. yesterday morning. There were present Hon. F. B. Johnston (Chairman), Messrs. A. Coran, T. Jackson, Douglas Jones, D. McCall, Ch. M.B. Polshwalla, V. O. Roche, J. B. Madar, J. P. P. Jones, W. Park, A. G. Stokes, G. O. Cox, J. J. Ball, Irving, H. O. Maclean and W. N. Bain (Manager).

Doggy Edinburgh.

An official from London who was recently transferred to Edinburgh declares that the Scottish capital is the "doggiest" city in Europe. In the street in which he resides every householder has at least one dog; some have two or more. If he wants to meet some of his newly made acquaintances he strolls out about 11 p.m. and finds them "piloting poodles" or exercising snappy terriers. He has struck up several new acquaintances by asking them what sort of dog he himself should purchase. "The way to the Edinburgh man's heart," he says, "is opened by his dog."

Palestine Wine.

In the hope that America will abolish prohibition and that Palestine will have an opportunity to export large quantities of wine to the United States, when Roosevelt is President, the management of the Mikveh Israel Agricultural School several months ago began preparations to cultivate 300 dunams of its farm lands as vineyards in order to prepare wine for shipment to America as soon as the sale of liquor will be permitted there. It is expected that Palestinian wine will find a large market in the United States, especially among the Jewish population there.

Kenya Gold Rush.

In view of the impression given by the Colonial Secretary in the House of Commons that the mining operations in Kenya are of a temporary character, the latest news to reach London is surprising. It would appear from the reports coming in from Kakamega that a genuine gold rush is in progress there. Most significant is the item that claims are already changing hands at prices ranging from £25 up to several hundreds of pounds, according to the locality and the amount of gold that has been discovered. The influx of prospectors has become so large that the Government has more than doubled the deposit required from them, the object being to deter people with insufficient backing or capital from flocking to the fields.

It is true that the number of new gold-seekers is partly offset by the departure of some of the early prospectors, who have insufficient patience and capacity for hard work for the job. As in every gold rush in history, many optimists went into the "reserves" expecting to "strike lucky" and make a fortune in a few days and have now returned to quieter occupations. The prospectors are either camping out or sleeping in their motor-cars, as accommodation at the mining centres is quite insufficient. It is understood that, in the opinion of an eminent geologist who has examined the region, the area within which gold may be found may even reach ultimately to about a thousand square miles.

A Book of Words.

Literally this compilation is a book of words. Turning its pages, one reflects a little sadly on this modern phase of valuing words for their component letters rather than as living symbols of intelligent thought. But there is one consolation. The words out of which the commercial crossword, with its quirks and doubles, is built strike one as being of an almost uniform ugliness, as, for instance:—

T* Batta, batty, betty, bitta, botta, butta, butty, butty, cutty. Ditto, ditty, dotty. Fatty, fyttu. Gutta, gutty, Jetty, jatty, Kitty, Lotto, Matte, mitta, motto. Natty, nitty, nutty, Patty, petto, petty, pottle, potty, putty. Ratty. Set-to, sita, Tatta, tat-ta, tutti, tatty. Vittu. Witty.

Mr. Joyce, getting on with the job in hand—he himself prefers to call it "A Work in Progress"—could scarcely do better.

Local and General

On Tuesday six cases of smallpox and one of meningitis were reported.

The Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotel Company's Ordinary Yearly Meeting of Shareholders will be held on Monday, March 20, at Exchange Building at 11.30 a.m.

The monthly meeting of the Hong Kong Football Council will be held at 6.30 p.m. to-day when the draw for the second round of the Shield competition will be held.

The annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Tramways, Ltd., will take place at Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co.'s Board Room at noon to-day.

Severe burns to his face were received by a fireman on board the s.s. Sandviken on Tuesday due to throwing some kerosene oil on a fire.

Mrs. Fung Ping Shan has generously presented 7,000 volumes of modern Chinese books to the Fung Ping Shan Chinese Library at the University of Hong Kong. It will be remembered that this Library which was presented to the University by the late Mr. Fung Ping Shan was opened by H.E. Sir William Peel in December last.

The affairs of the Company the General Managers have little or nothing to add to the report which has been circulated amongst the shareholders. I am assured by the manager that the building and works of the company are in first class order and will require no outlay for some time to come. I hope the shareholders will confirm the policy which is advocated by the General Managers of writing down out of profits the cost of the property, and of accumulating a cash reserve.

I have now to move formally that the report and accounts as printed to be adopted and passed. I shall be happy to answer any questions shareholders may have to put.—Hong Kong Daily Press, February 16, 1933.

Looking Back 25 Years.

His Excellency the Governor, who was accompanied by Lady Lugard, presided at the annual distribution of prizes of the Hong Kong branch of the Royal Sanitary Institute held in the City Hall yesterday afternoon. There were seated with their Excellencies at a table at the head of St. Andrew's Hall, the Hon. Dr. J. M. Atkinson, president of the Hong Kong branch, Mr. R. B. B. Secretary, Hon. Mr. W. Chalmers, Dr. F. Clark, Mr. T. Perkins, Mr. A. H. Ough, and Mr. A. J. Brackenbury. The body of the hall was also filled when Dr. Atkinson opened the proceedings.—Hong Kong Daily Press, February 15, 1908.

The Dockyard Recreation Club Dance is to take place at Lane, Crawford's Restaurant, to-morrow, Friday.

The death took place in London on February 13th, of Mr. Robert Hunter Hill, a Governing Director of Messrs. Bradley & Co., and a former resident of the Colony.

The wedding will shortly take place between Mr. Malcolm Allan Wylie, of Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Ltd., and Miss Isabel Maud Mazlin, 27, Shields Street, Cairns, Australia.

On Feb. 9 Singapore celebrates her 114th birthday and in this case we prefer to vary the customary greeting to "Many happier returns of the day."

Miss Diane Clementi, the eldest daughter of H.E. the Governor (Sir Cecil Clementi) and Lady Clementi, arrived by the Corfu. Miss Diane was in Singapore previously, and went home about a year ago.

Mr. George Goldsack, manager of the Rummymede Hotel, Penang, and Mrs. Goldsack have sailed for home by the Carthage. Mr. Goldsack, who is leaving the country for urgent family reasons, was formerly assistant manager at the Europe Hotel, Singapore, for several years.

A fatal motor accident occurred near the Garden Theatre in Hennessy Road on Tuesday afternoon when an 80-year-old man, Lee Nai Shek, of 10, Ship Street, was knocked down by a motor-lorry. It was learned that the victim attempted to cross in front of the vehicle which was driven by Cheung Kiu Lu, a licensed driver, at the time.

Further evidence was taken by Mr. W. Schofield at Central Magistrate's yesterday in a case in which four Chinese were charged with obtaining goods by fraud. The defendants were alleged to have opened a bogus firm at 131, Connaught Road, and by its means to have obtained goods valued at over £1,000 from four firms in the Western District. The case was again adjourned.

The General Committee which was promoting the Women's International Club have found that it is impossible to carry out their scheme at present on the intended lines. At the meeting held on February 1st at the Sandilands Hut it was decided to dissolve the Committee and return all subscriptions and donations. The doll which was to be raffled for the benefit of the Club will be drawn for next week, and, unless any objections are sent in to Mr. Dunbar, 22 May Road, the money will be sent to the Hong Kong Benevolent Society.

DIPLOMACY NO LONGER OF ANY USE

China Likely To Withdraw Diplomatic Representatives From Tokyo

Invasion Of Jehol Planned To Commence On February 27.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NANKING, February 15. AS a positive indication that diplomacy is no longer any use in dealing with Japan, China is likely to withdraw her diplomatic representatives from Tokyo in the event of a Japanese invasion of Jehol. Such action is generally considered inevitable, although officials state that a final decision has not been reached.

LEAGUE'S REPLY TO JAPAN

GENEVA, Feb. 14. THE Committee of Nineteen has replied to Japan's letter of February 14 regarding Manchukuo and states that the Committee deeply regrets that it "feels bound to hold that the Japanese proposals put forward on February 8 will not afford an acceptable basis for conciliation. The Committee has given full consideration to the various points raised in your letter, but in the circumstances do not feel that to enter into discussion of them could lead to any fruitful result."

The Committee adds that it is willing to examine with the greatest care, until the date of the final meeting of the Assembly, any further proposals that Japan will wish to make "but feels sure that Japan will realize that any aggravation of the existing situation must render more difficult, if not indeed impossible, the fresh effort of conciliation."

SITUATION IN JAPAN

TOKYO, Feb. 15. On formal submission of the League's recommendations to Japan the Government, it is understood, has decided that Admiral Satomura, to whom he will explain the Government's attitude, after which a meeting of the elder statesmen will be called for the purpose of deciding what action to take. Whether or not Japan withdraws from the League, Japan's policy in Manchuria, it is believed, will be unchanged.

ULTIMATUMS TO CHANG

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Feb. 15. Three Japanese ultimatums to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang have been prepared by the military command and are being delivered to the young Marshal shortly. The principal demand, it is admitted by high Japanese officials in Peiping, is the immediate withdrawal of all Chinese troops from Jehol. The compliance of the Chinese is considered impossible and it is now

EARL OF LYTTON ENTERTAINED

AND GIVES ADVICE TO JAPANESE STUDENTS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Feb. 15. Earl of Lytton was the principal guest at a dinner in London tonight of the Japanese Association of the University of London. The dinner was held in a Japanese restaurant. It was attended by members of the Japanese Association and by several British officials.

Lytton told the Japanese that he did not believe in war to enforce peace. League could only do one thing, namely, lay down clearly and definitely the limits within which a Sino-Japanese settlement should be consistent with the League of Nations Covenant. The League could adopt a pacifist system and use force to compel a member to view was not an effective method of the Sino-Japanese conflict could not be found under the terms of the League.

UNION GUARDIAN TRUST BANK

"RUN" ON DETROIT BRANCH

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

DETROIT, Feb. 15. A SERIOUS run on the Union Guardian Trust bank, of which Henry Ford and his son Edsel Ford are directors, precipitated the Michigan State bank crisis. An eight-days' bank holiday has been declared, but a Clearing House Association has been established to permit depositors to withdraw their money not more than five per cent. of their balances.

Bankers, in the meantime, are working out a scheme to meet the day-to-day needs of depositors and shopkeepers are discussing a system of food coupons to meet the problem created by the lack of cash.

The Governor of Michigan State has indicated that the refusal of Henry Ford to subordinate his $25,000,000 deposited in the Union Guardian Trust Company to the claims of small depositors was partly responsible for the urgent need to declare the moratorium, which is immobilising some $1,400,000,000 in over five hundred banks.

W. O. Briggs, President of the Briggs Manufacturing Company, which supplies Ford's motor bodies and the strike which nearly brought about complete closure of Ford's works in Detroit, is also a Director of the Union Guardian Trust Company.

According to the Governor of Michigan State, General Motors, Chrysler and Ford are the largest depositors in the bank and only the first two have agreed to subordinate their claims.

Statement Retracted. Detroit, Feb. 15. The State Governor has retracted his statement that Mr. Ford is partly responsible for the eight day moratorium.

Better Outlook.

DETROIT, Feb. 15. The financial situation in Michigan may be cleared up sufficiently to enable banks to re-open before the expiration of the eight day holiday as a result of concentrated Federal State and private action yesterday, according to the New York Times.

Forty million dollars were rushed from the Federal Reserve banks in New York and Chicago by midnight, more is expected to-day.

The train is fitted with 150-horsepower Armstrong Whitworth self-electric motor. This is a self-contained unit, generating its own electric power from an oil-driven engine capable of maintaining a speed of 25 miles an hour. The total fuel and oil costs were only 8 of a penny per mile.

ENGLAND IN STRONG POSITION

VICTORY IN FOURTH TEST MATCH PRACTICALLY CERTAIN

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

JARDINE'S FOUR-INNINGS; BATS SIXTY-THREE MINUTES WITHOUT SCORING

BRISBANE, February 15. WITH Dame Fortune once more swinging her pendulum towards the English team, the position at the end of the fifth day's play in the fourth Test match is that the Old Country's chances of winning are extremely bright so much so that nothing short of a sensational collapse will rob them of victory.

The weather was fine and the wicket showed signs of wear when McCabe and Darling, the overnight not outs, resumed Australia's innings with Larwood and Hammond bowling. England got going almost at once and pressing home the advantage they held, the bowlers soon got rid of the whole team for 175 runs. England were thus faced with 160 runs for a win. Jardine and his merry men, however, were in no hurry to get the runs and as a result scoring was slow for a start, though things brightened up considerably towards the end. The position at the close of play was that England were 52 runs behind with eight wickets in hand.

THREE WICKETS IN ELEVEN BALLS!

There were only three thousand people present when McCabe and Darling resumed Australia's innings with Hammond and Larwood entrusted with the English attack. The Notts fast bowler again resorted to the leg-theory in the third over and this proved fatal for McCabe ducked every ball that was sent down. When the score was taken to 127, Verity came on for Hammond and nine runs later the new bowler met with success when he found McCabe's leg stump with a beautiful delivery. The outgoing batsman had been at the wickets for 82 minutes during which time he scored 22 runs which included one boundary shot. Bromley joined Darling and these batsmen played very solidly until the score was taken to 163 when the former was caught at slip by Hammond off Allen. He had made only seven runs but his stay at the wicket had the effect of taking some of the sting out of the bowling. The score now stood at 163 for 5. Love came in to fill the breach and with only six runs added to the total he had the misfortune of seeing Darling run out by a smart return to end what had been a very gallant innings. Darling gave an exhibition of fine all-round batting and during the 109 minutes that he was at the crease he made 39 runs which included three fours. Love was taken at this stage, Love being undefeated with three to his credit while the total was 169 for 7.

The End in View. When Love resumed his innings after lunch, he had Wall as his partner and off Larwood's first ball the former was given out l.b.w. without adding to his score—169 for 8. Two runs later Jardine, fielding in the gully, caught Wall off Allen. O'Reilly and Ironmonger were the last men in for Australia and they gave the impression that they were out to save their side from inglorious collapse, but alas! Larwood decreed otherwise for after only four runs had been added to the total he found O'Reilly's off stump with a ball which travelled like greased lightning. Ironmonger was not out for a duck while "Mr. Extras" contributed 23 to bring the total to 175 which were collected in 344 minutes. The feature of the game was the sensational collapse of the Australians after lunch, three wickets falling in eleven balls.

Early Disaster. England's second innings was greeted by early disaster. Jardine as in the first innings opened with Sutcliffe and for a change the big-hearted Yorkshireman failed to get going. He had only scored two runs when he was caught at point by Darling off O'Reilly. Previous to this, however, he gave a chance to McCabe at fine leg but the fielder failed to bring off what appeared to be a difficult left-handed catch. One wicket down for only 5 runs did not look too promising so that Leyland, the newcomer, and his captain battled with extreme caution. About this stage Ironmonger had come on for Wall and he and O'Reilly were bowling very accurately. After a very slow start Leyland opened out and scored a 2, 4 and 9 in one over off O'Reilly. Tea was taken with the score at 45 for 1, Jardine claiming ten and Leyland 29, both not out.

Painful Cricket. What followed after the tea interval might well be described as painful cricket for at one stage Jardine was batting for sixty-three minutes without scoring. Then he drove Wall to the on boundary to send up the 30 which came after ninety minutes' play. The batsmen played along slowly and at 78 the English skipper got his leg in front of 88 straight 'un from Ironmonger and was given matching orders. He batted with extreme patience and his twenty-four look him 123 minutes to get. Hammond joined Leyland and although runs came at a quicker rate, scoring was still on the slow side. Leyland then sent Ironmonger to the leg boundary to reach his half-century after having been at the wicket for 133 minutes. He scored six boundaries thus far and up till this stage his batting was described by critics as a triumph for restraint over natural aggressiveness. With the score at 107 for 3, stumps were drawn on account of falling light.

Thus England are now in a very favourable position, needing but 33 runs for a win with 8 wickets in hand.

SETTLEMENT OF WAR DEBTS

ANGLO-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION NECESSARY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. AN early visit by Mr. R. MacDonald to discuss war debt settlement with Mr. Roosevelt would be welcomed in Republican circles. It is emphasized that Mr. Roosevelt always desired an opportunity of personal contact with Mr. R. MacDonald, believing the only escape from the maze of world economic troubles is one which first leads to the establishment of frank and full co-operation between Britain and America. Mr. Roosevelt also believes he will find such escape with Mr. R. MacDonald more surely and easily than with any other man.

TRAINING NOTES AND TIMES

FULL PARTICULARS OF YESTERDAY'S WORK AT HAPPY VALLEY

MANY GALLOPS OF INTEREST TO RACEGOERS

(BY "MORNING DEW")

There were quite a number of interesting gallops at Happy Valley yesterday morning and although there was not much fast work to be seen there was still plenty of interest, and a very large attendance was at the rails to follow the final tryouts.

I was particularly interested to see Black Velvet (D. S. Li) and Jingle (A. J. P. Hoard) go out together and the gallop provided me with an answer to the question as to which is the better pony. Now that I have seen the gallop, I have no hesitation in saying that Black Velvet is much the superior animal. Springfield was again sent out on slow work as, for that matter, was the rest of the subscription griffins. In the Griffins' class, Brechin did a good mile and the pony is coming more and more before the public's attention. I would not be surprised to see it well back in the races.

The Cavalier went together with Per Se and finished very strongly. Mignonette went over a steady three quarters of a mile gallop and appeared quite convincing.

Autumn Star and Solar Star went out together, the former finishing in much better shape than his stable companion.

In the Australian class Tecumseh did a splendid finish to register 27.1 on the sand course.

Rosy Morn did an excellent gallop to return 13.1 for six furlongs and the performance appeared much better than What's That's effort over the same distance, which was done in slightly better times. Ntduk did a comparatively good gallop under Mr. Sewell, while Stickybeak with Mr. Harriman on the saddle also went very well.

It may be interesting to note that the best last quarters among the old ponies were those of Diana Bay and Liberty Bay. Bag and Baggage did a very fast mile and looks very fit.

LOCAL BOXING

FOLEY BEATS JUDGE IN MAIN EVENT

Plenty of keen hard fighting was seen at the Lee Theatre last night when the first boxing tournament, organised by the Hong Kong Boxing Association was held. There was a fairly large crowd of boxing enthusiasts present, and by the display put up by the two fighters, the fight was not only one of the best arranged only one did not reach the full distance, and that was in the Light Heavyweight Championship when A.B. Shreeve forced A.B. Long to retire in the second round.

Main Event.

The principal event of the evening was the Heavyweight Championship of the Colony between A.B. Foley (H.M.S. Berwick) and A.B. Judge (H.M.S. Whistart). This bout consisted of fifteen rounds, and was refereed by Mr. H. G. Sheldon, the well-known barrister. Before the fight started, A.B. Shreeve challenged the winner of the event, and was accepted.

Foley tipped the scale at 185 pounds and his opponent was three pounds lighter. Foley had the advantage of a long reach, which he made full use of, jabbing continuously, and consequently winning many points in that respect. The fight was not contested, and went the full distance of fifteen rounds. Foley, however, was decidedly superior throughout, Judge relying too much on the defensive, clinching on the slightest pretext. Both fighters started cautiously in the earlier rounds, with Foley slightly leading with his jab. In the later rounds, both men went at each other hammer and tongs, but Judge was greatly handicapped by a short reach. Foley won on points. At the conclusion of the fight, the Hon. Mr. E. D. O. Wolfe, fastened the belt, which was kindly presented by the Hong Kong Police Force, on the winner's waist.

Lightweight (6 Rounds).

Nothing much was seen in this fight which was between Marine Clayton (H.M.S. Tamar) and Telegraphist Johnson (H.M.S. Berwick). Both fighters started cautiously, and in the fourth round, Clayton was floored. He got up, however, and continued pluckily but Johnson was too good for him.

Light Heavyweight (8 Rounds).

The next event between A.B. Shreeve (H.M.S. Keppel) and A.B. Long (H.M.S. Meyway) was a very snappy one. From the start both men went for each other, but Shreeve soon proved to be superior. He repeatedly aimed hard blows on Long's face and laid him down for a count of nine in the second round. Long pluckily got up but soon afterwards retired when he received a hard blow in the mouth which made it bleed.

Welterweight (6 Rounds).

This event which was between Pte. Roberts (South Wales Borderers) and Stoker Hannaford (H.M.S. Bridgewater) was very evenly fought. Roberts was the thinner of the two and lacked sting in his punches. In the earlier rounds, however, he was decidedly superior with his jab, but in the later rounds Hannaford forced the fight to such an extent that he made it in his favour.

Featherweight (6 Rounds).

Considerable amusement was seen in this fight which was between Marine Hill (H.M.S. Kent) and A.B. Griffiths (H.M.S. Bridgewater). The fighters did not go for each other very eagerly as is customary, but instead played around the ring. First, Hill slipped on the floor to avoid punishment, and then Griffiths knelt down for the same purpose. Later the fight nearly developed into a farce when kicking and wrestling were attempted by both contestants—just for the fun of it. In the last round, however, both fighters were serious, and after a heavy exchange of blows, Griffiths was given the verdict.

Middleweight (8 Rounds).

This fight, the last event on the programme, proved to be the best of the evening. It was fought between A.B. Fraggott (H.M.S. Berwick) and A.B. Christie (H.M.S. Medway). Fraggott was decidedly superior throughout but Christie put up such a plucky fight that he won the admiration of the audience. Both fighters were of the same size, and they exchanged blows for blow. Although battered continuously by Fraggott, Christie returned gamely, and put up a very plucky fight such as had not been seen in Hong Kong for many a day. He was floored on no less than three occasions, but each time he got up and fought gamely on. In the last round, however, he proved too much for him and retired when he received a doubtful blow below the belt. In the end he was given a great ovation.

H.K.C.C. TENNIS TOURNAMENT

OWEN HUGHES & SEWELL WIN INITIAL MATCH

CASSUMBHOY TO MEET LAI KWONG TSUN

(BY SALADIN.)

Yesterday's matches in the Hong Kong Cricket Club Tournament neither excited the interest, nor produced the fine struggles, of the first two days' of this week; and so an atmosphere of "preliminaries" prevailed.

Some attention centred around Sewell and Owen Hughes in their Open Doubles match against Luk Chan Cheung and Wong Shu Wing, a youthful South China pair, who while displaying some talent failed to offer much opposition against the more experienced, and obviously superior Club combination. The Chinese pair played pluckily in the second set, and succeeding in carrying the set to ten games, before yielding the match. The winners now meet either the Lo Brothers or Comdr. Shaw and Comdr. Packer.

In the other match in this event, F. N. Wong and Ho Hing Kang, another South China combination, did well in beating T. A. Pearce and L. T. Ride, and in the second round will meet either Ho Ka Lau and Yew Man Kit or Leonard and Hachiuma.

In the Open Singles J. A. Cassumbhoi advanced into the third set by accounting for C. A. Wright comfortably. The Indian thus qualifies to meet Lai Kwong Tsun, when a fine match should result. In another match Dunham unfortunately developed cramp in the third set, and had to scratch to Lu Tak Cheuk.

R. M. Henderson engaged Monaghan in the Club Championship, and won without being extended.

RESULTS

The results of yesterday's matches follow:-

Open Singles.

J. A. Cassumbhoi beat C. A. Wright 6-2, 6-2.

LIVERPOOL MARKET REPORTS

that purchases made in weak markets ought to prove profitable.

WHEAT

The advancing tendency has continued during the past week, especially in Chicago, where prices have advanced more than 3c. since our last report, and on Tuesday last both the May and September positions in that market were traded in above the half dollar level.

The demand for Australian wheat from the Orient is sustained, with every prospect of continuation, whilst offers from the Argentine have only been made at advancing rates; in fact, there has been a distinct lack of pressure of actual wheat during the last few days. We hope that this lack of pressure points to a more orderly marketing in the future of the balance of the exportable surplus of exporting countries, and, of course, to a corresponding steadiness of the futures markets.

The bearish factors inherent to wheat have been more or less discounted and the features are of a bullish nature. We therefore maintain the opinion that, although setbacks may set in from time to time owing to outside developments, prospects appear favourable for steady markets and a further advance.

METALS

Trading in copper has been light, and no new features of importance have developed. U.S. producers have apparently not yet been able to evolve any workable scheme of control. There is no further news regarding the application of the duty in this country. The uncertainty rather hampers business, but supplies are ample. Apparently on account of generally improved sentiment the price has recorded a sharp rise in the last few days.

With regard to Tin, the visible supply and Eastern carry-over showed a reduction of 300/400 tons at end of December as compared with end November, which was disappointingly small. Heavy selling in the middle of last week forced prices down to $141 15s. Od., but most of the decline has been recovered. There has been talk of further restriction, but we have not heard of anything official being done about it.

Spelter stocks are being reduced in a satisfactory way, but the price is unfavourable affected by the very low price of Lead, and news is lacking regarding the new Cartel agreement.

Although metal statistics on the whole are cheerful, and any favourable circumstance would readily cause an advance in prices.

SUGAR

Business in the sugar market continues extremely quiet with price fluctuations of no great size. At the moment there is no speculative buying to cause any pronounced upward movement, and as long as this is absent prices are inclined to slip back when any quantity of hedge selling comes into the market, but immediately steady as soon as the hedge selling ceases. We are inclined to believe that sugar will be the commodity which will show the first improvement when the turn round in commodities takes place, but the raising of commodity prices seems to be the problem of the hour, and it may be that international action by world conference will provide the solution. We have previously referred to the improvement in the statistical position of sugar which will take place during the current year. The estimates for production show that a reduction of 2,500,000 tons is likely. The consumption is a difficult matter to estimate, but assuming that the consumption figure of previous years will not be reached, owing to economic disability to purchase, and change of habit amongst consumers, we can say that production will fall short of consumption requirement by 2,000,000 tons. The effect of this on the visible supply is that stocks will be reduced to reasonable quantities, which may cause the outside operator to take an interest in sugar.
